

Guards, Reservists Home Next August, Kennedy Indicates

Units Will Remain Available In State of Combat Readiness

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 145,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists will go marching home from the cold war in August, unless the Communists raise a new hot war threat.

This will clip as much as two months from the year they could have been kept in uniform under a special act authorizing their call to duty at the height of the Berlin crisis last fall.

But President Kennedy, in announcing plans for the August release, stressed Wednesday that these Army, Navy and Air Force units "will remain available, in a new and heightened state of combat readiness, if a new crisis should arise."

The decision to demobilize the Guard and Reserve does not stem from any marked change in the

More than 500 men from the Fox Cities area will be returning home when the guard is released from active duty. There were about 300 men in Combat Support Co. and Headquarters Co. in Appleton when the call to active duty came last fall. In addition, there were approximately 80 men from Neenah-Menasha, 90 from the Clintonville area and about 80 from the Waupaca area, and between 150 and 200 from Oshkosh.

International situation which continues to have many dangers and tensions, Kennedy said at his news conference.

"It is the result, rather, of our successful buildup of permanent instead of emergency strength," he said.

Because of higher draft calls and enlistments, the nation's regular armed forces will total 2,680,700 next September after the Guard and Reserves return home. This will be about 200,000 more than last June 30, before the Berlin crisis mobilization began.

Pays Tribute

In a mark of gratitude, Kennedy said "I know that I speak for all Americans in paying tribute to all those whose emergency service in this year of growing national strength is doing so much for the national interest."

The Army, which has 110,000 of the Guardsmen and Reservists under arms, informed Congress it plans to move major units to their home stations during the first 10 days of August. All units, it said, will be released before Sept. 1.

The exact dates for release of specific units hinge on transportation and processing requirements, the Army said.

To achieve a quick buildup, Congress authorized Kennedy to call into uniform up to 250,000 men for up to a year's service.

A total of 155,000 were tapped

CBS Named in Justice Dept. Antitrust Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department charged the Columbia Broadcasting System in an antitrust suit today with forcing affiliated television stations to take nearly all their post-network programs from the CBS network.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the charge was contained in a civil suit filed in U.S. District Court in Manhattan district, New York City.

Kennedy said the suit accused CBS of using a new compensation plan to force its programs on affiliated stations.

The government complaint said CBS affiliates, under the plan, are required to take more programs from CBS in order to receive the same amount of revenue.

Member of 32nd Dies In Highway Accident

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Pvt. Anton Schmidt, 20, a member of Wisconsin's 32nd Division, was killed Wednesday night when the automobile he was driving ran off the freeway south of here and crashed into a large exit sign.

Schmidt, who was alone in the car, was attached to the headquarters battery of the division's artillery unit at Ft. Lewis. He lived in Milwaukee.

Machinery to be Set Up for Better Use of Natural Assets

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHAWANO — Gov. Gaylord Nelson by executive order today created the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, providing the machinery for better future use of the recreational and other assets of seven counties in the scenic Wolf River Valley.

The governor made his announcement at a meeting here which he called to urge officials of the counties within the basin to work together for the preservation and development of the natural resources of the area stretching from Winnebago county, through Outagamie, Waupaca, Shawano, Menominee, Langlade and Forest counties.

He said the creation of the commission is "an historic event in the evolution of our efforts to assure that Wisconsin's vast outdoor resources are put to the wisest possible use."

27 Counties Have Agencies

The governor's order followed a petition for such a commission from the seven counties involved. Nelson told the meeting here that 27 counties of the state are now within formal regional planning organizations.

Nelson told the county officials and others that there are many assets in the Wolf River Valley that require wise planning for best use, but he said the best planning opportunity in the region is now.

Moonshine Booze Trade In Southern Germany No Longer Flourishes

CHICAGO Daily News Service

BONN — Good times and closer checks by the tax inspectors have just about finished a once flourishing moonshine liquor trade in the picturesque Black Forest uplands in Southern Germany.

The "revenuers" in Freiburg, the administrative center of the region, report that they located 18 illegal distilleries in 1961, about the same number as in 1960.

But the over-all output of "mountain dew," made in these cases mostly from fruit, seems to have been reduced considerably.

Kennedy Says Firms Ignore Public Interest

Assails U. S. Steel, Other Companies For Raising Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in his administration President Kennedy is engaged in furious battle with a major segment of U.S. industry. He threw himself into the fight with a charge that big steel showed ruthless disregard of the public by raising prices.

Kennedy launched the attack Wednesday at a news conference in which he denounced U.S. Steel Corp. and fellow steel price hikers with the strongest language he has leveled at anyone or anything since becoming president.

His voice rising, his forefinger poking for emphasis, Kennedy said steel price boosters had displayed "utter contempt for the interests of 185 million Americans." He said their "pursuit of private power and profit exceeds their sense of public responsibility."

Other Issues

Kennedy made important announcements at his meeting with newsmen:

Barring serious deterioration of the international situation, he said, the 145,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen called to active duty last year will be allowed to return home in August.

The government would seek a Taft-Hartley injunction to force an 80-day cooling off period in the West Coast shipping strike. (It got the injunction a short time later.)

But through the half-hour, either he or newsmen put the focus on steel.

Kennedy said the United Steelworkers' Union, which signed a contract he thought would hold prices in line, abided by its responsibilities. "And this government also has responsibilities which we intend to meet," he added.

In view of the speed with which other steel manufacturers fell in line behind U.S. Steel, he said, the Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission will determine whether any laws have been broken. He obviously had at least the antitrust laws in mind.

Congressional committees will inquire into the need for new laws, he said.

Throughout the steel negotiations, Kennedy said, the government will be a stronger hand in the wage-setting and price-fixing processes.

4. Retain if possible the cooperation of labor in the antiinflation drive by showing that the administration meant business in demanding the same restraint of management as it asked of unions.

5. Expose the price increase—termed by U.S. Steel a modest catch-up adjustment but denounced by Kennedy as a ruthless profit grab—to such pitiless scrutiny and publicity as might deter other firms and industries.

Kennedy hinted at his news conference Wednesday that he still hoped U.S. Steel, the industry bellwether, would rescind the increase.

But by that time five other firms — Bethlehem, Republic, Jones and Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Wheeling Steel—were committed to the new price averaging $156 a ton. Alto-

National Steel Increases Prices

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—National Steel Corp., the nation's fifth largest steel producer, announced an increase in its prices today. The increase was about the same as that announced earlier by other major steel producers—$6 a ton.

The firm said the increase will become effective Friday.

Jury Will Determine Ownership of $18,700

MADISON (AP)—A Dane County circuit judge ruled Wednesday a jury should determine legal ownership of $18,700 found in the attic of a Black Earth home last September.

The money was found by Gilbert Crockett, a Madison forest products laboratory employee who had purchased the house from the late Chris Schanel. Heirs to fifth largest steel producer, an Schanel's estate claimed Schanel had hidden the money and it belonged to them.

Judge Richard W. Bardoll ruled questions of order are involved in the case and ordered a jury trial at a later date.

Hint Court Action Under Trust Laws; New Legislation Also Under Consideration

WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry Washington today whipped up two congressional investigations and a price-fixing probe in swift counterblows at the steel industry's price increase.

Court action against steelmakers also was a possibility. Spurred by President Kennedy's scathing assault on what he called the "wholly unjustifiable and irresponsible" act of a tiny handful of steel executives, the administration and Democratic legislators set out to:

1. Force a rollback, if possible, of the $6-a-ton boost posted Tuesday by U. S. Steel Corp. and adopted with alacrity by its biggest competitors.

2. Discourage a similar price hike in aluminum, steel's chief competitor, now that steel has opened the breach in Kennedy's program of voluntary stabilization.

Effort Hinted to Break Up Big Steel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Department lawyers were reported considering today possible antitrust action aimed at breaking up the powerful U.S. Steel Co., which touched off the steel price rise.

Informed sources said antitrust action aimed at the industry giant was one of the "several avenues" of action to which Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy referred last night.

Russians Propose Tests Moratorium

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union today proposed an unpooled moratorium on nuclear weapons tests. The United States and Britain immediately turned down the proposal.

The two Western powers told the 17-nation general disarmament conference they could not trust the Soviet Union to observe such a moratorium.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin charged the American plan to resume atmospheric nuclear tests in mid-Pacific later this month is increasing international tension.

The American decision to test again came under heavy fire. Canada and Mexico were among those expressing regret.

Snow Comes Back for Unseasonable Visit

Wisconsin—Cloudy, windy and colder today with snow northwest and rain or snow southward spreading eastward across the state. Two to four inches of snow likely over the central and north portions of the state. Snow ending from the west to night and a little colder. Friday clearing and a little warmer in the afternoon. High today 32-37 northwest and 35-42 east and south. Low tonight mostly in the 20s. Fair and warmer Saturday.

Striking Teachers Sent Back to Work

Union Votes to Obey New York Supreme Court Order Against Strike That Closed 900 Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking public school teachers were sent back to their classrooms today by their union after a one-day walk-out that disrupted operations at practically all of the city's 900 schools.

Union leaders counted on early-morning radio news broadcasts to carry the back-to-work call to the teachers. They had been instructed to listen carefully to the programs for strike developments.

The decision to end the strike was announced at 3:30 a.m. after a seven-hour meeting of the executive board of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers.

32 to 12 Vote

Union President Charles Cogen said the board voted 32 to 12 to obey a State Supreme Court order against the strike which was obtained Wednesday by the Board of Education.

Cogen, although denouncing the court order, said the teachers had to obey it and return to work or run the risk of severe penalties.

More than half of the city's 40,000 teachers stayed away from their classrooms Wednesday in the strike for higher pay. Cogen set the absentee figure at 30,000 teachers.

Pupils Turned Loose

More than a score of schools were closed down, and their tens of thousands of pupils were turned loose. Scores of other schools merely went through the motions of conducting classes as teachers picketed outside.

Classroom discipline collapsed in many schools and idle pupils by the thousands ran wild inside the buildings and rampaged through the nearby streets.

Before the strike was called off by the Board of Education had said it would do its best again today to keep schools open for their one million pupils.

Expects No Reprisals

Cogen said the 1,000 member United Federation of Teachers—bargaining agent for all 40,000 public school teachers—"expects that all teachers who supported the strike will be restored to duty without reprisals or penalties of any kind, direct or indirect."

A New York state law, the Condon-Wadlin Act, prohibits strikes by public employees. The act, which the federation calls unconstitutional, provides for dismissal of violators. It allows their rehiring but with loss of certain pay increases and tenure rights.

The act was cited to the teachers here, but not actually invoked.

State's Share Of Timber Profit Would be Cut

Proposal Offered By Forest Crop Advisory Committee

RHINELANDER (AP)—A proposal that would trim the state's share of income from timber harvested under the Forest Crop Law was offered Wednesday at a meeting of a committee formed by the last Legislature, scene of a stormy debate on the issue.

The lawmakers authorized the Forest Crop Advisory Committee, whose members were appointed by Gov. Gaylord Nelson, to study possible changes in the law. Through the years the state and counties working under the law, have turned many thousands of northern Wisconsin acres into productive woodlands.

County Board Chairmen

The session was attended by 115 representatives, including eight county board chairmen. Fifteen of the 27 counties in the program were represented.

The representatives were nearly unanimous in the claim that the counties don't owe the state any money as the result of forest improvements. And they agreed equally that the state-county relationship should be continued.

Adrien DeVriend, the Price County forester, proposed that the state write an entire new law rather than attempt to patch up the one now on the book. DeVriend, of Phillips, led opposition to the current law in the last legislative session.

Present Law

Under the present law, the state pays counties 10 cents an acre for lands placed in the program, with the funds designated as a local tax aid. The state pays another 10 cents per acre to the counties for forest management.

DeVriend suggested that in any new law the payments be continued at present or higher levels. He also proposed that when counties harvest and sell the timber, the state's share of the proceeds be cut to 10 per cent from the present 50 per cent.

DeVriend further suggested establishment of permanent forest boundaries with allowances for new areas to enter the program.

Nelson Proclaims May Official Vacation Time

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson has proclaimed May through September the "official vacation season" in Wisconsin.

Nelson said Wednesday the state is striving to extend the vacation season to include "the month of May when nature blooms and fishing seasons open and September when our outdoor areas assume their most beautiful colors."

Bonn Learning Problems of Dispensing Aid

Problem Plagued U. S. Since End Of World War II

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — West Germany is beginning to experience some of the headaches that have plagued Washington ever since the United States began passing out money in large quantities after World War II.

Puddled heavily from outside and a little by its own conscience, the government in Bonn has committed itself to bear a sizable share of the burden of aid to the developing countries.

Ever since this word was flashed around last year there has been an unending procession of ministers and heads of state looking for handouts. Some of their ideas about what West Germany could or should do have been astonishing—as Washington can testify in much greater detail.

State Visit

It is, therefore, with relief and genuine pleasure that Bonn is playing host to Gen. Ibrahim Abboud, premier of the Sudan, during a two-day state visit here.

It is felt that the Sudan has a position of great strategic importance as a link between the Arab countries of North Africa and the rest of this vast continent.

But there is more than geography to make the Sudan attractive to the Germans as they embark on the difficult and often thankless job of foreign aid.

As the Sueddeutsche Zeitung of Munich remarks, Abboud's new country fulfills almost all the conditions that Bonn would like to see among other applicants.

Efficient Administration

"It is anti-communist," it says. "It does not flirt with the East German regime. It has a modest and efficient administration which spends money for the purposes for which it was given."

"It repays its obligations promptly. It demands no subsidies for its national budget. It does not feel insulted when creditors want to know the purpose for which the proposed credits will be used."

Police Probe Ambush Slaying Of Schofield Tavernkeeper

SCHOFIELD (AP) — Marathon County authorities probing the ambush slaying of a tavernkeeper continued today "trying to piece together a heap of hilly clues that might give us a concrete lead."

Sheriff Louis Gianoli said Wednesday night officials were "momentarily baffled" in their investigation of the death of Steve Kolokowski, 53, whose body was found in a ditch about 100 feet from his tavern.

"There's no evidence that the killer entered the tavern," the sheriff said. "He just apparently walked up to the window, potted him and walked away."

Man Questioned

Gianoli said authorities had questioned and released a man who reportedly had told several persons, "Someone is going to get a hole in the head." The sheriff, ob-

Centaur Rocket Launching Has Eight-Day Delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Centaur high-energy space rocket, already grounded nearly a year by a variety of problems, must wait at least eight more days for its maiden test flight.

The 105-foot rocket, the first utilizing powerful liquid hydrogen as fuel, came within 60 seconds of launching Wednesday. But at that point a low pressure reading was received from a gauge in the liquid oxygen fuel tank in the Atlas first stage.

Officials called off the launching until at least April 20 in order to correct the trouble.

Tanganyika Restricting Size of Embassy Staffs

BY SMITH HEMPSTONE
Chicago Daily News Service

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika — The government of newly independent Tanganyika is putting Parkinson's Law to a severe test by limiting the staffs of foreign embassies here to 10 foreign nationals.

Britain Has 20

The British High Commission (embassy) here already has a staff of more than 20. Like the excess Americans, it is assumed that they will be allowed to remain.

One Western diplomat here asserts that the policy was put into effect to prevent an influx of Russians and Communist Chinese, as has taken place elsewhere in Africa.

It is more likely, however, that the new policy has a twofold purpose: To provide more jobs for Tanganyikans by restricting the number of foreign nationals and, in line with Tanganyika's official policy of neutralism, to keep both the Western and Eastern embassies at reasonable and roughly equal levels.

Probe of Mafia Planned in Italy

ROME (AP)—The Italian Senate Wednesday night approved a bill authorizing a thorough investigation of the Mafia and legislation to end the dread secret society's grip on Sicilian life. The legislation comes up soon about his troubles. It makes for a happy staff."

Members of the American economic aid mission will not be subject to the limitation. Nor will the Peace Corps, which already numbers 35 here, a number that may soon be doubled.

Liberal Interruptions

The ban on corporal punishment has been interpreted liberally over the years, but Wilson said "in light of present times, it's too tight."

"It clouds the whole issue of what a teacher is supposed to do," Wilson continued. "The policy ought to be revised to allow the teacher his full rights under the law, which provides that the teacher stands in place of the parent during school."

The teachers also discussed the in the Chamber of Deputies, which is expected to approve it also.

The bill calls for creation of a commission of 15 senators and 15 deputies. The Mafia operates as an illegal government in Sicily. Most crimes of violence on the island are blamed on it, and police investigations into its activities usually run into a wall of silence.

Steel Cost Hike to Boost Other Prices

British Experts Say Increase May Help Their Sales in U. S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Most ob-York Banker's Trust Co., termed servers, friend and foe alike of the steel price boost, agree that the steel industry will help push up prices of a long list of consumer goods.

British steel experts said the increased price of steel in the United States might help British exporters to increase their sales in this country.

George Romney, former head of American Motors and a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan, termed Kennedy's indignation understandable, but added that the development "only highlights the inadequacy and danger of our continuing to deal with such problems on a crisis basis."

Blames Government

Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime Union, called the steel price rise the price of government intervention in management-labor affairs.

However, some steel executives were taken aback by the sweeping extent of the move. They noted it applied to such products as pipe and wire, which had been weak and had undergone a price-cutting siege less than a year ago.

Dr. Herman E. Kroos, an economic historian, said he doubted that the price boost, even if followed by all steel companies, would stick. He predicted some shading of prices based on the industry's history and its current economic status.

Wisconsin's Selective Sales Tax

Governor Nelson's selective sales tax measure is being discussed in some detail by candidates on the stump for governor and elsewhere, by their supporters.

Wisconsin people in general are pretty well aware of the fact that this is an unsatisfactory tax measure. Just how bad it is, will not be fully known until later. The Republican candidates generally are denouncing the bill and blaming the governor for it. The Democratic candidate and his supporters are denying the governor's responsibility for it and are blaming it on the Republicans.

But argue as they may, the fact is that the Wisconsin selective sales tax law is the proposal of Gov. Nelson, who offered it and secured its passage by bringing strong pressure upon his Democratic legislators.

Atty. Gen. John Reynolds who is a Democratic candidate for governor recently accused Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles of "unparalleled hypocrisy" for using the state's selective sales tax law as a campaign issue. Reynolds said that Knowles has been traveling around the state criticizing Gov. Nelson for the selective sales tax "enacted in the last session of the legislature, both houses of which were solidly controlled by the Republican party." Howard J. Koop, financial secretary to Gov. Nelson, in a letter appearing in the People's Forum today blames the Republican majorities in the legislature for forcing a sales tax upon the state and at the same time defends the governor's selective measure as the best that could be provided.

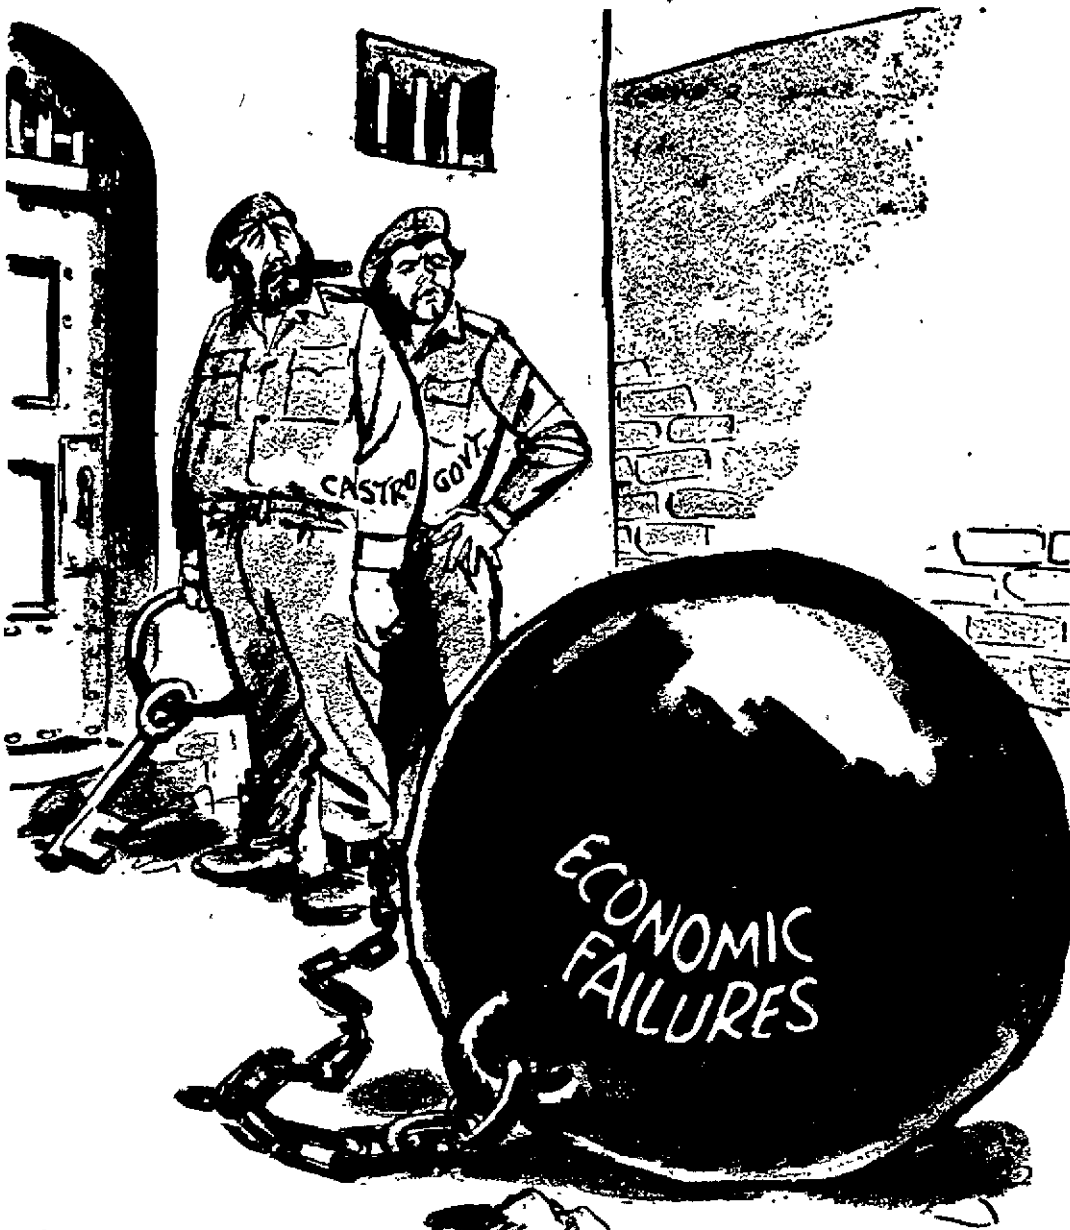

The story of the enactment of the selective sales tax is too recent to permit much confusion over it. It has been pretty well established by the history of the legislature that the people of Wisconsin generally have come to accept as a fact the Republicans' claim that the sales tax absolutely was necessary to provide adequate financing for the state. The nearly two years of discussion that went into the study of the tax revision proposal and finally the enactment of the present selective sales tax brought out quite clearly that a broadening of the base for the Wisconsin tax program was essential. Gov. Nelson accepted the sales tax but refused to go all the way.

Thus, the hodgepodge, patched-up, confusing selective sales tax Wisconsin has now can be directly credited to Gov. Nelson. The Wisconsin legislative majority had offered a workable, general sales tax with adequate protection of low income taxpayers and taxpayers with large families through refunds. The refund system offered by the Republicans in their general income tax proposal provided a means of equalizing the burden of the sales tax and followed closely the old tax slogan of placing the heaviest burden on those best able to pay. However, Gov. Nelson refused to accept this measure and the Republican legislators were unable to pass it over his veto. They were compelled to accept his proposed selective sales tax or to take a position of resistance which might have brought a severe financial crisis to Wisconsin.

The Republican members of the legislature showed a high degree of statesmanship and political responsibility in going along with the governor on his compromise bill. They insisted, however, upon Democratic support for the bill as a means of forestalling just such criticism as is now being heaped upon them.

If the governor and his political friends had wished to have the sales tax as a political issue they should have permitted the adoption of the general sales tax which the Republicans offered. That was a workable bill and the Republicans would of necessity have accepted full responsibility for it. However, the measure we have now is Gov. Nelson's compromise proposal and he and his Democratic friends must likewise, of necessity, accept a good deal of responsibility for it.

Nelson Vetoed General Sales Tax; GOP Forced Selective Levy

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Recent statements by some candidates for governor imply that Gov. Nelson proposed the selective sales tax which is now law. Nothing could be further from the truth.

It is true that Gov. Nelson initiated the study on tax revision. It is true that Gov. Nelson proposed the first tax revision bill, including property tax relief, in the history of this state. It is also true, however, that Gov. Nelson's original revision proposal did not include any form of sales tax. This bill was defeated by the Republican assembly.

Gov. Nelson then vetoed the general sales tax bill passed by the Republican-controlled legislature. The selective sales tax which became a part of the compromise tax bill was included only because the Republican majority in the legislature insisted upon a sales tax as part of its tax bargain. If the Republicans had not been able to get a sales tax, they would have forced either fiscal calamity upon Wisconsin or a 45 per cent surtax for both 1961 and 1962. Now, we have a selective sales tax which costs consumers $50 million instead of a general sales tax which would have cost them $150 million, and we have 65 per cent forgiveness of 1961 income taxes instead of no forgiveness and a 45 per cent surtax.

On the basis of Republican voting in the last legislature, the tax issue in 1963 is quite clear: given a majority, the Republicans will again pass a general sales tax on all consumer purchases, which means food, clothing, household heat and all other necessities of life.

Always Another Way to Look at It

Premier Khrushchev said in a Moscow speech that the Soviet Union will carry out a new series of nuclear tests if President Kennedy goes through with his plan to conduct atmospheric tests in the mid-Pacific.

Khrushchev might have added that if the Soviet Union should feel that anything was to be gained from additional tests, it would make the tests even if President Kennedy did not go through with his plan in the mid-Pacific.

Looking Backward

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 12, 1862.

Some of our enterprising citizens raised a purse and purchased a beautiful sword for Capt. Theodore Conkey of Co. I, Third Wisconsin Cavalry, which was presented to him on Thursday morning last.

On behalf of the citizens, Mr. John Jewett Jr. made the presentation speech — brief and neatly done — alluding to the worth and esteem in which the gallant Captain is held by us, his fellow citizens, touchingly treating on the position he now occupies as a military man and our interest in his welfare.

Capt. Conkey replied that he could not make a set speech, that he appreciated the kindness of his fellow townsmen in this testimonial of their feelings toward him, and that while he had the power to draw the sword, he would never dishonor it but should wield it for the right.

Quite a number of people assembled at the depot to see our gallant Captain off for the wars. S. P. Ming and P. J. Gates, both old residents of this place, joined his company and left with him.

Kind adieus were spoken, the friendly grasp of a hand exchanged, and away they went. May they all return to us again, unscathed in the fiery ordeal they may be called upon to encounter, and Heaven's choicest blessings attend them during their absence.

25 YEARS AGO

A Double Standard For State Politics?

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When the Democrats cry "smear" and "sewer" and "foul" every time a Republican offers a criticism of a Democratic attitude toward Communism as a domestic problem and the force of Communism as a fact in international affairs, they are in effect demanding a double standard of political discussion and conduct.

Lately the Republicans, as they prepare for the campaigns of the summer and fall, have pin-pointed the declared views and the Congressional voting record of Rep. Robert Kastenmeier of the Wisconsin second district. Cited among other things was his record on the continuation of the House Un-American Activities Committee, which he opposes, and which Republicans almost to a man support — not to mention most other Democrats who are obliged to answer roll calls.

They also have challenged his association with a liberal faction of the Democrats in the Congress which recently was credited with the publication of a book entitled "The Liberal Papers", containing the views of some men who are far-out liberals as the tests are provided in national and world politics nowadays.

EXCLUSIONS

The loud indignation from liberal Democratic quarters that has followed each of these public discussions suggests, at the very least, that Democrats are demanding favors in the way of campaign positions that the Republicans have never had, and that, indeed, the Democrats would scoff down if they were ever proposed.

They appear to suggest that there are some aspects of current politics and politicians' attitudes that ought to be out of the scope of campaign discussion.

The other night, at a Republican meeting in the home district of the second district Congressman, Chairman Claude Jasper carefully explained that he was not impugning Kastenmeier's loyalty.

But he said the opposing party has a right to call attention to his record, and what that record may suggest about his judgment to those who may not agree with him, and there are obviously many on the volatile question of American-Soviet relations and on the policy toward domestic Communism. Yet this approach was denounced in words so violent, in one Madison liberal organ, as to set some kind of a record for intemperate vocabulary.

DOUBLE STANDARD

Mr. Kastenmeier and Mr. Jasper are adult and ranking politicians and presumably able to handle their own quarrels. The outsider must find a disturbing element, however, in the suggestion that these matters cannot be discussed without encountering the risk of denunciation in the most absolute terms.

This presumption of a double standard of judgment for the benefit of the liberal viewpoint, moreover, must be especially annoying to those who have observed the propaganda styles of the Wisconsin liberals and their self-appointed publicity representatives over the years.

Any slightest deviation from the gospel according to Evjue, by any stateshouse politician, for example, is met with a storm of abusive language and suggestions of corruption. In the days when internationalism was not as accepted as it is today and some Wisconsin Congressional aspirants dared to espouse what came to be known as "isolationist" viewpoints, they ran the risk of being tarred with the totalitarian brush and the liberals were not then worried about their civil rights or "smears".

This double standard can perhaps be best appreciated by imagining that the tables are turned. Suppose a Wisconsin Republican candidate for a high office, or an incumbent Congressman, were to give aid and comfort, or even join in publishing, some of the output of the John Birch society? Campaign debate will become a hollow thing with arbitrary limitations of topics and records.

Doesn't Like Morrow's Work

New York Daily News

Live TV programs are planned to be bounced back and forth between America and Europe this summer, via a satellite scheduled for blastoff in May or June.

That's fine, and science is wonderful. But how about someone keeping U.S. Information Agency chief Edward R. Morrow from getting his pea-pickin' fingers into this project and doing his customary telecasting of all the most miserable and degraded aspects of life in the United States?

Appomattox and Algeria

The anniversary on April 9 of Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox, which virtually ended our Civil War, loses some of its antiquity when viewed in the light of what is happening in Algeria today.

The papers signed at McLean's house 97 years ago were, in fact, no more than those signed recently in Evion, France. They were a cease-fire accord, followed two weeks later at Raleigh, N.C., with Sherman and "Retreatin'" Joe Johnston as the signers. Later, Gen. Richard Taylor, a son of a President of the United States and former brother-in-law of the Confederate president, surrendered — or signed cease-fire accords — in Texas.

These three actions removed from the field the major Confederate forces and the rebellion ended. The men stacked their arms, took their horses and went home to leave the details of mopping up the rebellion to the legislatures.

That also was the theory behind the ultra-secret negotiations on the French-Swiss border. The difference was that the French federal authorities were making terms dictated by the Algerian rebels after seven and a half years of bloodshed. Also, the Evion negotiations failed to consider a third force, a truculent organization that refused to recognize cease-fire.

At Appomattox, there was an insipid third force. At Raleigh, the third force was urged but ignored. In Texas, when Zachary Taylor's son surrendered and a month later when the Wisconsin First and a Michigan cavalry surprised the Jefferson Davis camp in a Georgian thicket, the Civil War's third force dissolved.

The Algerian third force is running amuck, building a sickening record of reprisal raids of senseless killings and fiscally disrupting bank robberies. The Algerian civil war will not end until this third force is liquidated. Terrorist, guerrilla warfare is as effective as any panoply of sanctioned armed might.

Our Civil War's third force was dispersed. Most of the leaders — the talented, dangerous tacticians — decided their lost cause could be recouped by throwing in with "Emperor" Maximilian and an eventual invasion of the weakened union. Another rebellion — successful this time — thwarted their plans. The rebel leaders lived out their lives in disappointment.

A more active part of the U.S. Civil War third force fragmented into roving bands, raiding, killing and robbing banks. They became a part of our folklore and consequently legitimate material for television and cinema romances as the Younger Brothers and the Jesse James gangs, etc.

Their fountainhead was the notorious irregular, the so-called Col. Quantrell, who made use of the Civil War to enrich himself regardless of the side he appeared to serve. Quantrell released his band of thieves en route to Washington when he learned his sworn mission had been completed by a megalomaniac by the name of John Wilkes Booth.

The difference between Algeria and Appomattox lies in the character of the men involved. Lee was urged and Johnston ordered to carry on the hopeless struggle by any means available. Their honor blocked their taking that route. Algeria's blood bath could have been ours if it had not been for them. Algeria and France must become vigilant allies before the present blood bath ends.

Taxpayer Shocked on Learning What State Levy Will Be in '62

Editor, Post-Crescent:

To the Taxpayer:

Many of us are currently preparing our Wisconsin Individual Income Returns and it is shocking when we look into the future and consider the money we will pay the state this year as compared to what we paid for the year 1960 — before the recent tax structure revision.

I won't say much more, but just present some figures which will speak for themselves:

Let us assume an average family of four with a yearly income of $6,000. Let us further assume they own a home with a $15,000, 6 per cent mortgage. Net deductible medical and dental expenses for this family might be about $200 per year. Other deductions for donations to their church, etc., Wisconsin and Federal income tax paid the previous year would bring their total deductions to $1,375. Their net taxable income would then be $4,625.

for the year 1960 and what they will pay for the year 1962:

	1960	1962
Gross Normal Tax	$81.30	$127.50
Exemptions	28.00	40.00
Normal Tax	53.30	87.00

This represents an increase of 64 per cent in the Wisconsin state income tax paid by this family. They must also pay 3 per cent sales tax on appropriate items (which still isn't clear to many taxpayers) that they buy during 1962. Notice also that the state allowed an increase for exemptions, but the gross normal tax increased enough such that the normal tax in 1962 exceeds the gross tax of 1960 by 8 per cent.

The figures presented are conservative and might easily represent an average family in the State of Wisconsin. Need I say

Rep. Laird Answers Emory Meltz' Letter

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I read with great interest the letter which appeared in your People's Forum on Friday, March 30th, from Emory C. Meltz, route 1, Appleton, Wisconsin.

The writer of this letter quite obviously had not had an opportunity to read the Kennedy-Freeman Agricultural Bill, H. R. 10010. Today I have sent him a copy of this bill as the proposed program outlined in his letter is not the program provided for by this bill.

The referendum provision in H. R. 10010 provides that if two-thirds of the dairy farmers in the United States do not vote for marketing controls, the present minimum price support will be dropped from 75 per cent of parity to 0 per cent of parity. This kind of referendum provision is not fair or equitable as it holds a gun to the head of every farmer as he votes on marketing controls. I am in favor of giving farmers an opportunity to vote on marketing controls but not under the conditions spelled out in the Kennedy-Freeman Bill, H. R. 10010.

I do not know a single member of the Wisconsin Congressional delegation, Democrat or Republican, who is supporting the referendum provision contained in the Kennedy-Freeman dairy proposal. It is my hope that amendments can be made to the following two sections of this bill before it is submitted to dairy farmers for a referendum vote.

Section 437a giving the secretary of agriculture authority to exempt small producers from controls must be drastically amended. Section 434 giving the secretary authority to exempt deficit areas from the control provisions of his new dairy program should be eliminated. Even without these two exemptions dairy economists estimate that Wisconsin producers would be required to reduce their production by 7 1/2 per cent from present levels. If either deficit areas or small herds are exempt from controls, it would require further production cuts in Wisconsin.

I hope that Mr. Meltz will read carefully the 106-page bill that I have forwarded to him today. If there are any other farmers in your area who would like to have copies of this bill, I hope that they will write me.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Candy days: This is National Fudge Week — when everybody fudges a little on his income tax.

No wonder Castro was suspicious of seven American skin-divers who crawled ashore in Cuba. In Cuba, people wandering around ragged and hungry are supposed to be singing the Communist Internationale.

Winthrop Rockefeller, Nelson's brother, may run for governor of Arkansas. Government agents say there's no anti-trust violation. It still leaves 48 states for the Kennedys.

Science is getting a little slipshod. It's spending billions to increase man's life span — and not a cent on finding out how to grow a third set of teeth.

Officials Try to Force Steel Price Rollback

British Told About Perils Of Smoking

aret smokers among the nine eminent physicians, who prepared the report after three years of research, dropped the habit when they began to study the evidence.

Report Gives Statistics
The report noted that 20,000 men died of lung cancer in Britain in 1960 and an official spokesman explained that "those who smoke 25 or 30 cigarettes a day have about 20 times the chance of dying of this affliction than a nonsmoker has."

Referring to mortality from all causes, the report indicated that a man aged 35 who was a heavy smoker had one chance in 23 of dying within 10 years compared with only one chance in 90 for a nonsmoker.

Among young men the death rate among smokers was said to be four times as great as among nonsmokers while in the case of men in their 70s it is only twice as great.

Scare in Denmark
The chances that a nonsmoker aged 35 will die before he is 65 was given as one in six compared to one in three for heavy smokers.

One ray of light was seen in the admission that the risk of dying of lung cancer for a man who smokes more than 25 cigarettes a day is one in 14 between the ages of 35 and 70, so 13 out of 14 escape.

The alarm felt in Britain following the Royal College of Physicians' report has been duplicated in other countries.

Denmark had a real scare in early March when it was discovered that the incidence of deaths from lung cancer among men had risen from 4.5 per 100,000 in 1931 to 70.6 in 1958 and 86.7 in 1960.

The death rate from lung cancer among women—who commonly smoke stogies in Denmark—rose from 5.5 in 1945 to 13.3 per 100,000.

As in Britain, the only people who didn't seem to be alarmed were members of the government. They refused to take legislative action to check smoking. But the minister of the interior reported that he personally had decided to stop smoking the day he saw the report.

Jones and Laughlin hold the first four places in the industry.

Kennedy evidently hoped, by stressing the pending antitrust investigations, to deter the scores of lesser steel producers from joining the price parade. Kaiser, Colorado and Inland have said they are studying possible price hikes.

In announcing the price increase, U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington gave as the reason a continuing cost-price squeeze on profits since 1958, when prices last were raised. Worthington said these costs have continued to rise without even considering higher labor costs after July 1 under new contracts signed last week.

Backdown Not Probable
Few in Washington expected Roger M. Blough, board chairman of U.S. Steel, would back down an inch when he faces reporters at a news conference this afternoon in New York.

Fox Incentive Proposals
Even without a price hike, steel profits were likely to increase an estimated $125 million to $150 million this year under various tax proposals advanced by the administration in an effort to spur industrial expansion.

Announcement of a price increase so angered Kennedy, it was learned today, he discussed by telephone with Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, who is vacationing in Florida, the possibility of denying steelmakers some of these tax benefits. However, sources said, the idea of this kind of retaliation was rejected as discriminatory.

Liberalized depreciation allowances now being prepared by the Treasury would add an estimated $25 million to steel profits. Another $100 million to $125 million in benefits would come steel's way if Congress passes an administration bill giving investment tax credits to firms that modernize.

Congress May Balk
Even friends of the tax credit agreed with Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., that Congress now will hesitate to bestow tax benefits on industry, in view of the profit-boosting potential of the price advance.

With no price rollback expected from big steel, attention shifted to:

Congress, which rang Wednesday with bipartisan attacks on the price rise, and where two steel investigations were quickly scheduled.

The government's watchdog agencies of monopoly, the Justice Department and the Federal Trade Commission.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said court action is one of several approaches on which the Justice Department is already at work.

Presumably he referred to price fixing charges, for the President Wednesday repeatedly emphasized the simultaneous and identical actions of the industry's biggest companies.

Agreement in 1951
The FTC said it is investigating, among other things, whether any companies have violated a 1951 consent order prohibiting steel price-fixing conspiracies.

More than 70 major steel corporations agreed in that case to refrain from price-fixing, although none admitted FTC's charge that they had done so. Should the commission find evidence of collusion now, it would ask a federal court to invoke any of several penalties. The toughest would be a $5,000 a day fine for each offense. FTC views each sale at a conspiracy-fixed price as a separate offense.

Longer range and possibly much more significant medicine was being brewed on Capitol Hill, in the form of separate Senate and House inquiries which could lead to federal intervention in price and wage decisions on a scale never known in peacetime.

Hearings Start May 2
Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., announced that steel hearings by his House Antitrust subcommittee will open May 2. Preparatory investigation is starting at once, he said.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., announced that his Senate Antitrust subcommittee also will probe the price increase.

This investigation, it appeared, would deal with several proposals which would hobble industry in price decisions having heavy economic impact.

One is a plan, favored by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and others, to subject steel to regulation similar to that now imposed on the rates of interstate public utilities.

Another Gore proposal, announced by him in the Senate Wednesday, would provide a cooling-off period of months before any steel price increase could take effect.

Much discussed was the possibility of an aluminum price increase.

Richard S. Reynolds, Jr., president of Reynolds Metals Co., one of the big three aluminum producers, Wednesday spoke approvingly of the steel price increase. Industry, he said, "cannot continue to have rising costs without increasing prices."

Congressional sources, who learned in recent hearings that the national stockpile holds 800,000 more tons of aluminum than would be needed for a three-year war, spoke of the possibility that Kennedy could sell off the excess to break any aluminum price increase.

John F. Kennedy Jr. Enjoys Royal Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy Jr., the President's baby son, enjoys royal company.

When the Shah of Iran and Queen Farah dropped in to see the Kennedy children Wednesday night, Caroline, clad in pajamas and bathrobe, executed a flawless curtsy and John Jr. beamed.

He beamed until his mother led the guests away, then burst into tears of protest.

gion lies in the field of recreation.

He said the area contains many of the "greatest natural resources of middle North America," as he cited the profusion of lakes and streams, fish and game life, forests, and other values.

He warned that the creation of the commission won't assure preservation or wise use of such resources.

"But sound planning followed by action can guarantee maximum public benefits in the face of self-destructing competition for specific resource uses," he said.

"This combination of planning and action offers the only real hope for wise resolution of the competition between irrigation and trout habitat, between muck farming and protection of wetlands, between timber harvest and scenic values, between flood control and protection of migratory fish runs, between industrial and recreational use of fresh waters," he added.

The governor predicted that the number of vacation visitors to the Wolf River valley and environs will double during the next few years with the increase in population in southern Wisconsin and in the Chicago area, and that within a few more years, it will double again.

Wisconsin outdoor resources can withstand such enormously increased use pressure only through planning, Gov. Nelson said, as he praised the counties for their initiative in calling for the regional commission.

Navy Denies Rumor That Soviets Sunk American Submarine

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Navy spokesman denied Wednesday a rumor that a U.S. submarine had been sunk by a Soviet submarine and that American survivors were in a Tokyo hospital.

Rear Adm. Daniel F. Smith, Navy chief of information, said he had been informed the rumor was current in the area of Santa Barbara, Calif.

"It is not true," Smith told a reporter. "We have all of our submarines. Nobody is being treated in any hospital for injuries in any such attack."

Sucher in Milwaukee To Face Fraud Charge

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Robert La Follette Sucher, 37, of Madison, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, was returned to Milwaukee by police Wednesday night to face a charge of fraud.

Sucher had been arrested and jailed on the charge in Madison. After his return to Milwaukee, Sucher appeared before County Judge Christ Seraphim who set bond at $250 and scheduled a hearing for April 18. Sucher was released when bail was supplied by a professional bondsman.

A warrant signed by assistant Dist. Atty. John Romann was issued on the complaint of the Schroeder Hotel which claimed Sucher left the hotel on Nov. 7, 1960, leaving an unpaid bill of $271.

Price Boost Effects Cited By President

try's, "lot has been easier than that of 100,000 steel workers thrown out of work in the last three years."

In reply to one question he rolled into one ball the flow of gold, servicemen's wives and the steel prices.

Try to Solve Problem
The wives of many servicemen have been prevented from joining their husbands overseas under a policy designed to reduce the amount of gold flowing out of the country.

The President was asked if he didn't think service wives "have borne the brunt of the gold shortage long enough."

Kennedy said he agreed and that the problem was being studied. But he added that it costs $3 billion to maintain U.S. forces and bases overseas and "that money must be earned by a surplus of exports over imports." He said he asked the Defense Department to try to reduce this cost without reducing strength so as to bring the flow of gold into balance.

"So that is why these women are bearing hardships and these families," he said, "and that is why I contrasted with such unhappiness to the last 24 hours the steel prices increases, because the fact of the matter is if we are not able to compete, if this results in a larger increase of imports from markets, and therefore lowers our dollar values, then these wives are going to have to stay home."

Speaking of dollars and cents, Kennedy said that if the entire industry boosts the price of steel, "it would increase the cost of homes, autos, appliances and most other items for every American family. It would increase the cost of machinery and tools to every American businessman and farmer."

tions, Kennedy said, his administration sought no commitments from the companies or union. He and Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, he insisted, emphasized the government's only interest was obtaining an agreement that would not precipitate a price increase.

Not only is there no justification for an increase, Kennedy asserted, but labor costs per ton of steel can be expected to decline in the next year. Industry earnings have been high, he said, yet "a few gigantic corporations have decided to increase prices in ruthlessness and disregard of their public responsibilities."

When not unloading wrath on the steelmakers, Kennedy had this to say on other subjects:

Not On Brink of War
Troops—He has asked Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to cut $1.1 billion from the present $3 billion annual cost of supporting troops and bases abroad. He said this would help balance the flow of dollars, in and out, obviating that money to bear the expense of keeping armed forces overseas must come from a surplus of exports over imports. Very sympathetic with the desire of GIs to have their families with them, he said, the administration is analyzing the importance of the saving realized by curbing travel of dependents.

Alert—Kennedy said a false alarm that prompted a Strategic Air Command alert last fall had not put the country on the brink of war. It would have taken several hours to get planes on their way, he said, "and we were always in control."

Berlin—The return of Gen. Lucius D. Clay from a tour as Kennedy's personal representative in Berlin does not mean, as a newsman put it, the Berlin crisis now is negotiable. Clay will continue as a consultant. "So his service continues and the problem of Berlin continues."

Viet Nam—He is extremely concerned by the killing of U.S. soldiers in Viet Nam, but the U.S. cannot desist in efforts to keep South Viet Nam out of Communist hands.

Fidel Castro—The Cuban prime minister, Kennedy said, well knows the United States cannot negotiate on his offer to ransom prisoners captured in last year's attempted invasion nor can their families raise the demanded millions. The offer, he said, demonstrates "why Mr. Castro is increasingly isolated from the company of free men."

U. S. Duck That Invaded Red Air Space Shot Down

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said Wednesday an American duck that invaded Soviet air space has been shot in the Caucasus.

Tass said it was a Carolina duck, whose normal habitat is North America and Cuba.

Revaz Zhordaniya, a Soviet ornithologist, said he believed it was the first time a Carolina duck had ever strayed to Europe.

Colts Defeat Cubs For Second Time

Hal Smith's First-Inning Single Makes the Difference

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Hal Smith's two-run single in the first inning made the difference Wednesday night as the Houston Colts blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0 behind the pitching of Hal Woodeshick and Dick Farrell.

Farrell came in to get the last three outs after the Cubs, beaten in Houston's National League debut Tuesday 11-2, had put two on base in the ninth with none out. Farrell got pinch batter Bob Will to rap into a double play, then fanned another pinch batter, Danny Murphy, after Sammy Taylor had walked.

A crowd of 20,336 watched the first major league night game in Texas despite rains that caused a delay of more than an hour while the Cubs were batting in the fourth inning.

Spangler Singles

Al Spangler singled, and Norm Larker and Jim Pendleton walked leading the bases in the first, before Smith rapped a single to left for both Houston runs.

Celtics Back in Running With 115-103 Win

6 Boston Players Hit Double Figures; Baylor Scores 36

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Boston Celtics still win the big games and they're back in the running for their fourth straight National Basketball Association championship.

They gave the Los Angeles Lakers a 115-103 lacing Wednesday night to draw even at two games each, and flew back to Boston at once to rest for the fifth contest Saturday night.

"We just had to win this one," Celtic Coach Red Auerbach said as he herded his athletes into a bus headed for the airport. "I'm tremendously proud of the way they bounced back from that heartbreaking loss Tuesday night 117-115."

Get 3-0 Lead
Boston started off with a 3-0 lead on a basket and foul shot by Bill Russell and never surrendered it. The Celtics were in front 32-20 after one quarter, 60-51 at the half, 91-76 after three quarters. Six players shot in double figures with Russell the top man at 21.

Laker Captain Elgin Baylor was high for the game with 36 and his teammate, Jerry West, whose stolen pass won the third game, had 26. But the rest of the Lakers were cold. Baylor didn't get a single rebound in the first quarter and had only 14 for the game.

"We were flat this time," said Laker Coach Fred Schaus. "I can't explain it. We didn't rebound worth a darn, didn't shoot well."

Xavier Tennis Team Beats Ripon, 7 to 0

Xavier High School's tennis team opened its season with a 7-0 victory over Ripon Wednesday.

All of the visiting Hawks took straight-set wins—five in singles and two in doubles.

"Kip" Whittinger beat Dennis Stellmacher, 6-0, 6-1, in the No. 1 singles and teamed with Rod Langman to top Stellmacher and Jerry Prellwitz, 6-3, 6-3, in doubles.

Langman stopped Prellwitz, 6-2, 6-1, in No. 2 singles. Xavier's Jim Flynn beat Tom Reinecke, 6-1, 6-0. The Hawks' Tom Fuller and Con LaValle scored respective love-set wins over Tom Zoellmer and Pete Billings.

Xavier's Dick Kexel and Fuller beat Reinecke and Zoellmer, 6-0, 6-1.

Billy O'Dell Gives Braves 4 Hits, Pitches 3-1 Victory

Mathews, Mays Hit Home Runs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 1962 National League pennant race is underway—and somebody had better tell the Milwaukee Braves' hitters. Their total output in two games: one run, seven hits and 19 strikeouts.

The Braves were handcuffed by San Francisco pitching for the second straight time and bowed to the Giants 3-1 Wednesday night as southpaw Billy O'Dell tossed a four-hitter and struck out nine.

Eddie Mathews spoiled O'Dell's bid to match teammate Juan Marichal's shutout against the Giants in the season opener Tuesday. Mathews belted the 371st homer of his career with one out in the fourth.

The only other hits the Milwaukee "sluggers" managed were a double off O'Dell's pitching hand by Mack Jones with two out in the fourth, a single by Roy McMillan in the sixth and an infield safety by Howie Bedell in the eighth.

Tagged for 4 Hits

Starter Carl Willey, impressive in most of his outings in spring training, was tagged for four hits and all three San Francisco runs before he gave way to lefty Bob Hendley with one out in the second inning.

Hendley walked the first batter he faced, but then retired 13 straight before giving up another base on balls with two out in the sixth. He allowed a pair of harmless singles with two out in the seventh before being lifted for a pinch hitter, Tony Cloninger, who hurled the eighth, permitting one hit.

Willie Mays, the former "Say, Hey" kid now a veteran drawing some $90,000 a year from the Giants, started Willey's downfall in the same fashion as he did against Warren Spahn in the opening game.

Steve Cosgrove, Former Brave, Most Publicized

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
Now in the third week of spring training at Thomasville, Ga., the Fox Cities Foxes roster is beginning to take shape.

Manager Cal Ripken has 27 players under his direction at this time, but any one of the players can be plucked up by the three higher classification clubs as they break camp.

The team is holding its own against Elmira (Class A) in exhibition action. Ripken's unit broke even in its first two tries.

All four teams in camp had time trials last week former Fox Cities hurler Junior Coleman sharing the top 30-yard mark with three others players. Junior ran the distance in 3.7 seconds.

Coleman was also the winner of the 60-yard races being timed in 6.5 seconds.

Most Publicized
Steve Cosgrove is by far the most publicized pitcher on Ripken's staff. Cosgrove was signed by the Milwaukee Braves out of Houston's Bellaire High School last June and had an 0-9 record with Wellsville of the Class D Pony League.

Baltimore picked up Cosgrove in the draft at the winter meetings in Tampa, Fla. when the Braves didn't think anyone would touch him because of the winless record.

The righthander first went to camp with the Orioles in Miami. Gary Justice, a righthander who went to seven straight wins with Bluefield in the rookie league last year, was assigned to the Foxes after reporting from the Rochester camp last week. Also with the squad are Tom Fisher, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Norm Skikas, who

$1,500,000 Lost By ABL in 1961-2

HONOLULU (AP)—Abe Saperstein, American Basketball League commissioner, said today the league lost an estimated $1.5 million during its first season.

"I don't really look on it as a loss, but rather an investment," Saperstein said. "We look for improvement next year."

He called the 1961-62 season an "artistic success," and declined to break down losses of individual teams.

Saperstein said Long Beach, Calif., which will replace the defunct Los Angeles franchise, looks like a very strong operation. "and there is a possibility the league will expand to nine teams with Dallas coming in," he added.

Red Sox Win, 4-0, In 12th on Hardy's Bases-Full Homer

Bill Monbouquette Outduels Tribe Rookie Don Taylor

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—"What are you complaining about?" yelled rugged Carroll Hardy with a big grin. "We gave you four runs, didn't we?"

The joshing remark to pitcher Bill Monbouquette came in the Red Sox dressing room after the former pro football halfback smashed a bases loaded home run to give Boston a 4-0 win over Cleveland Wednesday.

The grand slammer didn't come

28-year-old Hardy's blast off Taylor.

First in 3 Years

"Yes, that was my first homer in Fenway Park in three seasons with Boston," the former Indian said. "I hit line drives most of the time and they are not tailored for this park."

"I'll have to admit that was my biggest thrill since the last football game I played for Colorado University," said Hardy, who won the starting right field position vacated by slugger Jackie Jensen's retirement last winter.

Hardy, under 248 yards while scoring three touchdowns against Denver in 1954. Hardy, one of the fastest runners in the majors, gave up a promising pro football career with the San Francisco 49ers to concentrate on baseball.

"But I never had a chance to play regularly," he said. "That's the only answer I can give for my success so far this season. No body can show his best unless he plays regularly."

Hardy was one of Boston's best hitters in spring training and is batting .625. He could provide some of the punch that the Red Sox need so desperately.

Carl Yastrzemski had tripled to open the 12th and Indian Manager Mel McGaha chose to have Taylor walk Frank Malzone and Russ Nixon intentionally, filling the bases.

It was the third hit of the game for Hardy, a former Indian, now playing right field for the Red Sox.

The homer gave Boston its first runs of the season. Cleveland blanked the Sox by the same score in their Tuesday opener.

All three of Taylor's bases on balls were intentional. Neither team managed to get a runner as far as second base until Yastrzemski doubled off the left field wall with one out in the bottom of the seventh.

The Indians didn't see second base until the 12th inning when Chuck Essegian led off with a single, was forced by Willie Kirkland and John Romano drew a walk.

Kirkland moved to third on Woody Held's fielders choice but Monbouquette got out of trouble by getting Bubba Phillips on a fly to center.

House Group Hears Cal Poly Survivors

Bill Would Pay $15.75 Million In Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A crippled ex- football player told a Congressional committee Wednesday about the night of horror in which 16 of his college teammates died and he narrowly escaped burning to death in a plane crash.

"One day you're playing football and the next day they want to cut your leg off," said Al Marinal who played guard for California Polytechnic College of San Luis Obispo.

Although he refused to let doctors amputate his left leg after the Toledo, Ohio crash, he said "I'll never be the same."

All Out Window

He said his planned professional football career is "all out the window."

Marinal testified before a House Judiciary Committee in behalf of a bill to pay a total of $15.75 million to the 25 survivors and families of the 20 passengers who died in the Arctic Pacific Air Lines crash.

Rep. John H. Rousset, R-Calif., who introduced the bill, said the government shares responsibility because of the failures of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the Federal Aviation Agency to enforce regulations.

Arctic Pacific, a non-scheduled airline, went out of business after the fatal charter flight, which crashed on takeoff while returning the California team from a game with Bowling Green, Ohio.

Richard Gary, of San Francisco, attorney for the survivors and families of the victims, said his firm is suing Lloyd's of London which has refused to pay off insurance policies of $25,000 per passenger, but "it may be a fruitless pursuit."

'Sugar' Ray Will

Tour Caribbean,

South America

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, who celebrates his 42nd birthday on May 3, leaves today for Miami, Fla., en route to a four-stop boxing tour of the Caribbean area and South America.

The tour, which opens Saturday night in Georgetown, British Guiana, will help get the former welterweight and five-time middleweight champion in shape for a June bout with Terry Downes in London.

Robinson's advisor, George Gainford, confirmed Wednesday that had Downes successfully defended his share of the middleweight crown against Paul Pender last week, the June bout would have been for the title. Pender defeated Downes in Boston last Saturday.

"It would have been for the title all right," said Gainford. "That's why I was in Boston for the Pender-Downes fight. This will be real big in London, anyway. Ray has a magic name overseas."

So Robinson, whose long career includes 22 title fights in three divisions, will have to be content with a fat purse for his clash with the 25-year-old Downes.

Redskins Hire New

Public Relations Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joe Blair, sports publicity director at the University of Maryland, was named director of public relations for the Washington Redskins Wednesday. The 38-year-old Blair succeeds Dave Slattery, who recently was named assistant general manager of the National Football League team.

Maglione Hits Second ABC 700-Plus Set

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—The Detroit Stroh's will be seeking revenge when they appear in the Classic Division of the American Bowling Congress tournament tonight.

The talented young team was leading the National Match Game Championships in Kansas City by a large margin last November, but was beaten three straight games in the final block and had to settle for second place. The winner was Don Carter Gloves of St. Louis, the team which is currently leading the Classic Division of the ABC with a six game total of 6248.

The Stroh's are perhaps the last major threat to the Carters. The 69-day tournament ends April 26.

Billy Maglione of Long Beach, Calif., was Wednesday's star attraction. The 135-pound professional took third place in the singles and fourth place in the all-events of the Classic Division.

Maglione, 29, rolled a 247-245-209-701 in the singles. He had 712 in the team event Tuesday night and 551 in the doubles. Maglione is only the fifth bowler in 59 years of ABC play to shoot two 700s in an ABC.

Jack Sables and Ron Ward of Rockville, Md., took sixth place in the regular doubles with 1314. Central Plumbing and Heating of Gary, Ind., took sixth place in the regular team standings with 3070.

All Appleton Legion

Players Must Register

Tonight's Appleton American Legion baseball team registration will be the only one of the season, according to Manager Bob Beltone. All candidates, including last year's players, must register.

The sign-up session will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. today in Committee Room B, City Hall.

OSC Wins Twin Bill From St. Norbert '9'

OSHKOSH—Oshkosh State used six pitchers Wednesday to tame the St. Norbert College Green Knights, 4-2 and 2-1, in the opening games of the season. The six hurlers gave up just seven hits and three runs in 14 innings.

The winners broke from a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning of the first contest when Dick Wirtz opened with walk, Chuck Frey singled and Harry Brennan tripled them both home. Bob Felda added an insurance marker when he sent Brennan home.

Oshkosh used the sixth inning again in the second game as they talked both of its runs on back-to-back triples by Felda and Dave Schneck and a single by Ken Huebner.

Don Lehman, Gary Weigant and Ron Ronson hurled for the Titans in the first game with Gene Alexander, Jim Schoebek, and Ed Schafer sharing mound duties in the second affair.

St. Norbert had a 1-0 through the first five frames of the nightcap. They put together a walk to pitcher Gene Gries, an error, and a single by Chuck Hoch for a run in the third.

The Titans make their next start at Ripon Tuesday night. They open the conference season April 21 by playing host to Platteville in a doubleheader.

Brillion to Triangular Win

Freedom Second; Heimke Breaks Shot Put Mark

BRILLION — Speedy Ken Belanger streaked to three individual first places Wednesday while pacing the Brillion High School cindermen to victory in a triangular meet here with Freedom and Hilbert.

Belanger placed first in the 220 and the broad jump, and tied with teammate Tom Brady in the 100. He also ran a leg in the winning 880-yard relay team.

The Lions picked up 81½ points. Freedom placed second with 49½. Hilbert had 17 points, 10 of which were gathered in by Larry Pruess with firsts in both hurdles events.

Tom Brady, another speedy Lion, almost matched Belanger's feat. In addition to finishing in a dead heat with Belanger in the 100, Brady ran away with the 440 field and ran a leg on the victorious 880 relay team.

Brillion's John Weinreis, in his first year out for track, finished first in the mile.

The outstanding single performance was turned in by Lion strongman Don Heimke when he bettered his own school shot put record by five feet, four inches. His toss was 47 feet, 10½ inches. The old standard was 42-6½.

120-yard high hurdles — 1. Pruess, H.; 2. W. Knoespel, B.; 3. Metoxen, F.; 4. Richter, B. Winning time, 18.8.

Polar Bears Blank Jay '9' in Opener

Ken Schmelzel Hurls 1-Hitter; Erdman Yields Only 2 Safeties

MENASHA—Lefty Ken Schmelzel stopped Menasha High School on one hit as Hortonville edged the Bluejays, 2-0, in the season opener for both clubs here Wednesday afternoon.

The Jays' Dave Erdman doled out only two safeties, but his teammates committed four errors. The Polar Bears played flawlessly behind their hurler. Both runs were unearned.

The lone hit off Schmelzel's southpaw slants was a single by Mark Pawlowski in the second inning. The only solid blow off Erdman's right-handed deliveries was Dick Flunker's first inning double. Merlin Keller beat out a hit off the pitcher's glove in the third.

Schmelzel walked six batters, hit one and struck out 10. Erdman had seven whiffs and issued five passes. Both teams stranded eight base runners.

Hortonville scored in the first inning when Bob Spaulding was safe on an infield error, took second on a passed ball and circled the last two bases on Flunker's double. Two walks, a sacrifice and an error permitted the second run to score in the sixth.

Stan Musial Spoils Casey's Return to NL

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial—whose first major league game 21 years ago was against a Casey Stengel team—ruined Ol' Casey's return to the National League by getting 3-for-3 Wednesday night.

Casey tried not to appear impressed.

"Yeah, he's still doin' the job—that's what they're paying him for," grunted Stengel after his New York Mets were clipped by the St. Louis Cardinals in their opener, 11-4.

Gottlieb Won't Deny Report

Warriors May Be Moved to San Francisco

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I can neither affirm nor deny," said owner Eddie Gottlieb of the Philadelphia Warriors today after it was learned from a reliable source he verbally has agreed to sell the National Basketball Association club to a west coast syndicate.

Unless Gottlieb has a change of heart, the Warriors apparently are going to San Francisco. Gottlieb has been offered $850,000 for the Philadelphia franchise by Bernard Solomon, spokesman for the west coast syndicate.

"What else can I say until I'm in a position to say something more," added Gottlieb. He said he expects to make an announcement within the next two weeks.

The source, who did not want to be identified by name, also reported that even if the Warriors are sold and moved to the west coast, Gottlieb will still have an NBA franchise, possibly through the switching of Syracuse to Philadelphia, either this year or next. He also could become president of the league should Maurice Podoloff retire.

when Bedell dropped his long fly near the foul line in left. Then Mays hit Willey's first pitch to him for a homer. The ball traveled about 380-feet, clearing the fence near the same spot in left center as his homer off Spahn. The homer off Spahn also came on a first pitch delivery in the first inning.

Jose Pagan cracked a 360-foot homer to left in the second and another hit drove out Willey.

O'Dell held the Braves hitless until the fourth until Mathews unloaded his 390-foot homer over the right field fence in the fourth. O'Dell, cheered on by a crowd of 16,721, was in command the rest of the way.

The Braves named Bob Buhl, a veteran right-hander with a disappointing 9-10 record last year, to oppose the Giants in the series windup today. Buhl was to be opposed on the mound by right-hander Jack Sanford, who had a 13-9 mark in 1961.

O'Dell Switches to Fast Ball And Strikes Out Nine Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pitching was supposed to be the major San Francisco Giants question mark in 1962.

But based on Billy O'Dell's fourth-inning shutout Wednesday night and Juan Marichal's opening day shutout, Manager Alvin Dark has solved at least half of his starting rotation problems.

O'Dell, who earned a starting berth with three complete game victories in September and a fine spring, candidly admitted his breaking fast wasn't doing much in his 3-1 victory at Candlestick Park.

So he simply switched to the fast ball and struck out nine Braves. Their only run came on Eddie Mathews' fourth-inning home run, hit off what O'Dell said was "a good curve ball."

"And if I had it back I'd throw it again," he added.

hitter by the margin of a bloop double by leadoff man Eddie Kasko in the first inning.

The Reds didn't get another hit until the ninth, when singles by Vada Pinson and Wally Post and a double by Frank Robinson helped them score their only runs.

The Dodgers had gone ahead 4-0 in the third. Maury Wills touched Moe Drabosky for a triple and Jim Gilliam followed with a 375-foot homer. Wally Moon walked and Duke Snider drove him in with a double.

It was the 1,242nd run batted in of Snider's National League career and it pulled him into a ninth-place tie with Frankie Frisch on the league's all-time RBI list.

A sacrifice fly by Ron Fairly brought in the fourth run of the inning and the Dodgers made it 5-0 in the fourth on a triple by Willie Davis and a sacrifice fly by Maury Wills. Four straight walks by Dave Sisler gave Los Angeles another run in the fifth.

Belongea Hits 257 Singleton In Kimberly

Ed Belongea pounded a 257 singleton and a 634 series to pace the National League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly.

Other honor scores were hit by Charles Jansen, 225 and 613; Bill Goffard, 231, 606; Art Levknecht, 606; Norb Van Dyke, 590; Jerry Wydevan, 574; Toby DeBruin, 573; Tom Albers, 561; and Francis Vander Velden, 559.

George Burton slammed a 231 game, and Bob Marzahl hit a 618 trio to share honors in the Men's Major League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna.

Thilmany leads with a 61-26 mark. Other honor counts included Dick Mulry, 228; Jerry Lamers, 552; Al Schumann, 594; Will Ranquette, 225-569; Norm Lenz, 551; Bob Sachs, 553; Bob LaPlante, 578; George Burton, 577; Leo King, 607; and Norbert Jansen, 563.

Bill Vanderloop slammed a 577 series and Joe Reynebeau registered a 576 trio to take honors the final night of action in the Cigarette Couples League at Little Chute Recreation. Old Golds, with a 31½-10½ record, finished as champs.

O'Dell Switches to Fast Ball And Strikes Out Nine Braves

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pitching was supposed to be the major San Francisco Giants question mark in 1962.

But based on Billy O'Dell's fourth-inning shutout Wednesday night and Juan Marichal's opening day shutout, Manager Alvin Dark has solved at least half of his starting rotation problems.

O'Dell, who earned a starting berth with three complete game victories in September and a fine spring, candidly admitted his breaking fast wasn't doing much in his 3-1 victory at Candlestick Park.

So he simply switched to the fast ball and struck out nine Braves. Their only run came on Eddie Mathews' fourth-inning home run, hit off what O'Dell said was "a good curve ball."

"And if I had it back I'd throw it again," he added.

Voices Concern Over Possible Michigan Horse-Racing Ban

DETROIT (AP)—A proposal to abolish pari-mutuel betting in Michigan wouldn't stop residents from gambling on horses and would cost the state a tax bonanza, says the State Racing Commissioner.

State Racing Commissioner Edgar Hayes voiced concern over Wednesday's proposal by delegates drafting a possible new state constitution.

"This proposal could get to the voters and then it could easily get across," he said.

The proposal, approved 80-42 by a constitutional convention committee, could close all race tracks in Michigan within a couple of years. Michigan now has two thoroughbred tracks and four harness tracks.

"Horse racing employs a lot of people in Michigan," Hayes said. "It's a tax bonanza for the state. I don't see what advantage there'd be in shutting it down."

Hayes said if Michigan closed its tracks, horse racing would flourish just on the other side of the state's borders.

"It wouldn't stop Michigan people from gambling on horses," Hayes said. "There'd immediately be a new track in Windsor and the track at Toledo would extend."

Windsor, Ont., is just across the Detroit River—the United States-Canadian boundary—from Detroit. Toledo, Ohio, is about 60 miles from Detroit and is near heavily populated southeastern Michigan.

Hayes said horse racing—both thoroughbred and harness—paid Michigan $7.8 million in taxes last year and more than $8 million the year before.

Vike Trackmen Open Outdoor Campaign

Lawrence will open its 1962 outdoor track season Saturday afternoon when it meets Knox at Galesburg, Ill.

Two-miler Bill Stout and shot-putter Dave Peterson, the only dual winners in a recent indoor meet at Beloit, will head Lawrence entries Saturday.

Coach Gene Davis also plans to use Reed Williams and Capt.

Stout in the mile event again. The pair finished 2-3 in the Beloit test.

Others making the trip to Galesburg will be sprinters Dave Brainard, Don Cass, Al Bond, Don Cass, Dick Larson and John Promer; hurdlers Norm Paulk, Bond and Brainard; and half - milers Williams, Dick Gram and Jim Henig.

Peterson, Dan Brink, Carl Ceit-ham, and Dave Borth are eligible in the shot put event and Brink, Ken Beinar, Luke Groser, and John Van Meter are candidates in the high jump. Three of the four men in each of the two events will be selected to participate.

Dan Miller will carry the Vike hopes in the pole vault. Beinar, Bond and Brainard are the likely entrants in the broad jump. Beinar, Peterson and Brink will enter the javelin event.

Pole vaulter Roger Nichol is still recovering from an ankle injury but is expected to be back in action soon.

The schedule:
April 17—At St. Norbert.
April 21—Ripon, Stevens Point and Oshkosh State.
April 24—At Beloit.
April 28—At Carleton.
May 2—Michigan Tech.
May 5—Lakeland.
May 12—At Ripon.
May 18-19—Conference Meet (at Ripon).

Mrs. Thomas, Skeet Record-Holder, Dies

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Max L. (Lucretia) Thomas, holder of three of the five women's world skeet titles, died Wednesday night in a Dallas hospital.

Mrs. Thomas suffered a stroke Saturday night as she and her husband left the Dallas Gun Club.

She served as captain of both All-America women's skeet team and the Guns and Ammo all-star women's skeet teams for 1962. In 1953 she won the world's all-around championship.

YOUR DOLLARS MAY SAVE THIS CHILD FROM LEUKEMIA

Leukemia is a great child-killer. When sixty people die of cancer, one is a child killed by leukemia. Scientists insist this disease is conquerable, and are hopeful that a vaccine against the dread malady will be developed. That's why one out of every six dollars spent by the American Cancer Society is devoted to research on leukemia.

This month over three hundred volunteer workers in Outagamie County are conducting a neighbor-to-neighbor campaign to raise research dollars for cancer. These people, in a very real sense, are working for you. This disease can't be ignored; it killed 113 people in the county in 1961. Until a cure is found, it will continue to kill people. You. Or your child. Or someone dear to you.

Learn cancer's seven danger signals. Fight cancer with a checkup and a check. Give to the American Cancer Society.

CANCER'S SEVEN DANGER SIGNALS

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere
3. A sore that does not heal
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits
5. Hoarseness or cough
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing
7. Change in a wart or mole

If your signal lasts two weeks, consult your doctor.

Porter Heads State Mississippi Parkway Planning Committee

MADISON (AP) — Foster Porter, former Republican state senator from Bloomington, was elected president of Wisconsin's Mississippi River Parkway planning committee.

The committee was created by the 1961 Legislature to carry on a program begun 30 years ago.

session that 234 easements have been acquired along 55 miles of the road, and added:

"For the nominal sum of $38,000 the beauty of these 55 miles has been protected for all time."

The parkway has a top priority in the state's outdoor resource program and it is planned that acquisitions during the 1961-63 biennium will include an additional 59 miles of scenic easements from Prairie du Chien north to Maiden Rock in Pepin County, the governor said.

Set Lenten Program for All Catholic Teens

1,500 Invited to Observance at St. Joseph Friday

A night of recollection for members of the Catholic Youth Organization will be conducted by the Rev. John Feeney, assistant pastor of St. Therese Church, at 7:30 p.m. Friday at St. Joseph Church.

Letters have been sent to 1,500 Catholic teen-agers in both public and parochial schools inviting them to the program. This will be the only Lenten observance held for all Catholic teen-agers, and will be held on the Catholic feast of Our Lady of Sorrows during Passion Week.

The program will start with a talk by Father Feeney on "Walking with Our Lord to Calvary." The group will then have a procession to St. Mary Church, where a tableau on the "Stations of the Cross" will be presented. James Bauer is the director. Members of the cast include Michael Jacklin as Jesus, Theresa Miller as Veronica, Sherron Hodges as Mary, Jean Ellenbecker and Carol Knuppel as women of Jerusalem, James Back as Pontius Pilate, James Gaerthorner as John and Steven Calmes as Simon.

After a return procession to St. Joseph Church, Father Feeney will talk on "What Does Christ's Cross Mean to a Modern American Teen-Ager?"

The program will end with a solemn benediction and confessions.

CYO directors are the Rev. Lyle Peyovich, O.F.M., Cap., St. Joseph Church, the Rev. John Van Deuren, St. Pius X Church, the Rev. Robert Smith, Sacred Heart Church, the Rev. Raymond Zagorski, St. Mary Church, and Father Feeney.

Property Owners Told To Remove Lake Filling

MADISON (AP) — The Public Service Commission has ordered five owners of property on Silver Lake in Kenosha County and a contractor to remove fill from the lake and restore the original shore line within 120 days.

A similar order was handed down to all but Maruca in 1956 but was not pursued in court. The latest order, issued Tuesday, follows an investigation of unauthorized dredging and filling.

The property owners are William J. Maruca, Howard Heldt, Donald Santheil, Frank Mulvany and Robert Shaw. The contractor named is Domenico Tirabassi of Kenosha who had removed material from the lake bed.

Replace Mediator In Plumber Talks

Contract Negotiations at Halt; State Arbitrator in Appleton

Conflicting statements on the release of federal mediator J. L. Conley from plumbing strike talks were made today by representatives of labor and management.

Conley, who has negotiated two talks between members of the striking Plumbers Local 458 and the Central Valley Plumbing and Heating Contractors Association, did not negotiate the latest talks Wednesday night at the Conway Hotel.

Wednesday's negotiations, conducted by Wisconsin labor relations mediator Arvid Anderson, ended after four hours. No further talks are planned in the near future by either side.

Claims Both Sides

According to John Barlow, a member of the association negotiating team, Conley was asked Wednesday to quit the talks by both sides so that a new "atmosphere" could be achieved. Barlow said it appeared under Conley's direction that the talks "were getting farther and farther apart."

Roland Choudoir, plumber's executive secretary, said the striking union "was more than happy to continue with Conley." He said it was at Barlow's suggestion that Anderson replace Conley "and see if he was not the union's decision."

Conley could not be reached at his office in Green Bay today for a statement. He had said after two previous discussions that the strike was nearly ended. Last talks conducted by Conley were Tuesday.

Barlow's statement in behalf of the association said the contractors were offering a 40 cent per hour raise, which included a paid vacation and an additional welfare contribution. The raise would bring the present hourly figure of $3.65 up to $4.05 per hour in two years.

According to the statement, the union is asking a raise of 63 cents per hour for a two-year contract which includes paid vacations, pension and additional welfare contributions.

The union also is asking for more out-of-town expense allowance, the statement reads. According to the statement, the union request will raise the hourly figure of pay from $3.65 to $4.28 per hour within one year.

Choudoir said the union is holding out for a one-year contract instead of the three asked by the association. The association, in its latest negotiations, is asking for a two-year contract.

Choudoir said he saw no need for pickets in the strike and added that seven contractors in the Fox Cities have signed contracts with both sides so that a new "atmosphere" could be achieved. Barlow said the contractors have signed said it appeared under Conley's direction that the talks "were getting farther and farther apart."

Roland Choudoir, plumber's executive secretary, said the striking union "was more than happy to continue with Conley." He said it was at Barlow's suggestion that Anderson replace Conley "and see if he was not the union's decision."

Conley could not be reached at his office in Green Bay today for a statement. He had said after two previous discussions that the strike was nearly ended. Last talks conducted by Conley were Tuesday.

Go-Kart Taken

Charles Alf, 72½ W. Winnebago St., told Appleton police Wednesday evening that a home-made go-kart valued at $150 has been stolen. Alf said the go-kart was parked next to his house and apparently was taken Tuesday night.

The Clarence W. Womack family of Highland, Wis., received the Farmers' Home Administration "family of the year" award in Green Bay Wednesday. Womack, who lost both hands in a farm accident in 1953, can perform almost all tasks and has quadrupled the worth of his 353-acre Iowa County farm. From left are Mary, 7; Mrs. Womack, Womack, and Bruce, 15.

'Family of the Year' Amputee Honored for Becoming Success on Wisconsin Farm

GREEN BAY — You hear about farm boys making good in town. Clarence W. Womack is a town boy who has made good on the farm in an exceptional way under extremely adverse circumstances.

For Womack, who farms 353 acres of hills near Highland in Iowa County, tills his land and does his chores with steel hooks in place of his right hand and his left.

The 39-year-old farmer was in Green Bay Wednesday night with his wife, his son and his daughter, to accept the Family of the Year award from the state office of the Farmers Home Administration. He is the first in Wisconsin to be so honored by the FHA.

"I made up my mind I wanted to be a farmer," he explained. But the route was far rougher than for most.

His right arm was shattered in the Battle of the Bulge. His first wife died when his son was born.

Tractor Accident

He had hardly started farming, with little practical knowledge and even less capital, when a tractor accident cost him both his hands.

But self-induced momentum carried him on. Piece by piece, with the help of his wife and his growing son, he built up his farming operation. At the end of last year his net worth figured out to $38,109.

These were the words of tribute spoken Wednesday night by Dr. Henry L. Ahlgren, associate director of extension at the University of Wisconsin.

"A brave, courageous, determined family," they are part of the story of America—of American agriculture at its best.

Little Farm Experience

Except for a few summer jobs, Clarence Womack had little farm experience in his youth. He grew up in the little town of London, north of Mineral Point in Iowa County. His formal education stopped with the second year in high school.

In 1941 he was married. In October of the following year he was inducted into the Army, going overseas with an infantry unit in 1943.

During the Battle of the Bulge, he was wounded in the right arm. He spent Christmas in a hospital in Paris, and was shipped back to the States.

Worked While Recuperating

It was typical of Clarence Womack that he attempted to make something of himself during his recuperation furlough. Between trips to military hospitals he worked at the Rockford Screw Products Co. of Rockford, Ill., where his father had gone during the war.

Relatives responded, caring for sickle bar of the mower. Both infant Bruce, when Womack's wife hands were amputated died in childbirth in 1946. In December of 1947 he received his discharge from the Battle Creek Hospital with an 80 per cent disability rating.

That is when he took steps to realize his ambition to become a farmer.

He enrolled in the vocational agriculture class at Highland under Fidelity Bosch, veterans trainer. Then he rented a farm. It wasn't much of a farm, but Clarence hardly realized its shortcomings.

I didn't even know how to drive a tractor," he recalled.

Bit by bit he added to his assets. He wanted to buy a farm, but how could one buy a farm in his situation? The usual lending agencies were unable by their rules to stick their necks out to that extent.

FHA Gave Loan

So he investigated the Farmers Home Administration, the government-sponsored agency that often lends money when no other resources are available. The FHA checked up, found him eligible, and told him to find himself a farm.

That took some looking, but he finally won approval on a 145-acre farm at Highland in Grant County. He became a farm owner with a mortgage, in March of 1952.

Ann became his wife later that year. Things were becoming better and better, until one August day in 1953 when he was mowing hay.

Both Hands Amputated

The front wheels of the tractor struck a hole. The jar rocked him from the seat, and he fell on the sickle bar of the mower. Both hands were amputated.

"Once again he faced the problem of adjustment," the official discharge from the Battle Creek Hospital report noted. "He went to the Veterans Hospital at Wood and was fitted with artificial limbs."

Indicative of his faith and determination, a year after the accident Womack bought an adjoin-

Welfare Unit Holds Meeting At Oshkosh

OSHKOSH — It is not enough to have a recreation program for children to come to, Dr. Catherine Richards, coordinator for agencies working with hard to serve youth in Chicago, told 80 persons from 15 counties at an area conference on hard to serve youth here Wednesday.

Dr. Richards said the community must go out to the youth and not wait for the children to come to them. If you neglect these children they will get into trouble and become your concern in other ways.

A panel of Anthony Faupl, director of Lapham Youth Center, Milwaukee, John Magstrell, assistant director of the Milwaukee Boys Club, and Ernest Goranson, recreation consultant, discussed the theme of "public recreation should be for everyone in the community."

Leaders of discussion groups were Jack Casper, Neenah Boys Brigade director, Byron Weese, Oshkosh High School counselor, Charles Drayna, Oshkosh recreation director, Eugene Berres, Community Chest and community council director, Green Bay, and Vernon Christopherson, Port Washington.

Norman Whitford, Winnebago County welfare director, was moderator of the conference.

Man Who Broke Into Tavern Goes to Jail

A man who broke into the living quarters of a rural Hortonville tavern early Wednesday morning in what he claimed was a search for his wife, has been jailed.

John A. McMurdo, 25, Nash St., Hortonville, was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Gustave J. Keller Wednesday on a charge of disorderly conduct.

McMurdo will be allowed to work under the Huber law.

He was arrested by Outagamie County police at the Club 45 after the owner complained McMurdo broke in, ransacked the living room, threw the owner's wife around, rolled his 10-year-old son out of bed and searched the attic and basement.

Richard Robertson, the tavern owner, said McMurdo broke in at about 1:20 a.m. Police said McMurdo had been drinking

Chile in Throes of Financial Crisis, Currency Value Drops

English Compulsory Subject in All Schools Three Days a Week

SANTIAGO, Chile — It's always interesting to compare a foreign country with "home." In this article I will make a few comparisons.

The economic problems of Chile are very great and have to be solved. The country is going through a financial crisis at the present time. The basic national currency is the Escudo (written "E"). In December of last year it was equal to the U.S. dollar. The day I arrived a few weeks ago, the exchange was $1 equals E 1.39. Today it has improved its value somewhat, having gone up a little each day. Prices have not risen, however, in the last month except for imported items. A long bus ride in the city of Santiago costs about four cents in U.S. money. Yesterday I bought a ticket to fly to Puerto Montt, 670 miles south of Santiago for $2.50 E first class. There is no tourist class on domestic airlines.

Father Resch

Considered Proper
Yesterday I had three appointments. The first two came off all right; but the third one did not. It was for 3:30 p.m. I was there one time, waited until 5 and then told to come back later. The center of the Holy Cross Fathers operation in a rather central location in Santiago, St. George College, which is called a "colegio ingles." It is a school of 1,700 boys, with about 1,000 in the primary grades (1 to 6) and 700 in the secondary school (grades 7 to 12).

In English
In the primary school the instruction is almost completely in English, the teachers being three U.S. Dominican sisters and many Chilean men and women. In the secondary division (called Humanidades) the instruction is in Spanish, except English classes and Religion. The nine Fathers are assisted by some 30 Chilean men and women teachers, all of whom are on a part-time basis. All the boys are required to speak English outside the classroom while on the campus. Nearly all the secondary students have passed through the primary division, and most of them speak almost perfect English.

English is a compulsory subject in all the schools of Chile three days a week. There is an astonishing interest in learning English. Chile, after all, is very distant from any English-speaking country. Although they are increasing in number, not many U. S. tourists come here. The British are traditionally more frequently known here, and many of the older generation speak English of Oxford. Now the pronunciation is becoming more and more that of the United States. I spent much more time at the of the Holy Cross Fathers here. I met him at the funeral of a Maryknoll priest and the following day he took me on a tour of his congregation's establishments. I saw their modern, 50-room seminary, at present with a dozen theologians, some Chilean and some from the U.S. It is beautifully situated on the eastern edge of the city, very close to the equally modern diocesan seminary which looks like a modern apartment building. Physically, it is every bit as modern and attractive as similar institutions in the States.

Charles "Chip" Dostal Jr., was honored by the Appleton Breakfast Optimist Club Tuesday as Youth of the Month for March. From left are Adolf Dillon, Appleton High School coach; Chip, Mrs. Charles Dostal Sr., and John Law of the Optimists. Chip, who was nominated for the award by Appleton High School, has participated in football, basketball, dramatics and debate. He is treasurer of the AHS student council and was one of 10 boys to attend Badger Boys State last summer. He is a member of the governing board of the "Y" Den and president of the Pilgrim Fellowship youth group at the First Congregational Church, and will be a youth counselor at Boulder Junction this year.

school, the rates being about $75 four class rooms of the barrack-type at a cost of about $2,500 per room as an experiment. In this school, the Fathers are able to operate two free schools, one near the college and another near the seminary. Each year they are adding class rooms to all three schools. Last summer they built

Creative Easter Desserts

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

The joyous season of Easter can be reflected in the bountiful, festive dinner that marks the day in most homes. Now that Lent has come to an end and thoughts turn toward spring and the benevolent weeks ahead . . . it also is a fitting occasion for creative desserts that fit the mood.

Let the Easter dinner proper follow the traditional pattern . . . the huge ham or fowl roasted to a delicate brown . . . the vegetables, salads, breads and relishes that mark the meal. It's the dessert that can star in the Easter dinner as the one special creation to make this year's feast a memorable one.

This dessert can be an elegant one such as Boule de Neige . . . as festive a snowball as ever was made . . . or it can turn to more frivolous charm such as the superbly decorated Easter Bonnet Cake . . . or a lovely Easter Lamb Cake to delight the children at the family table.

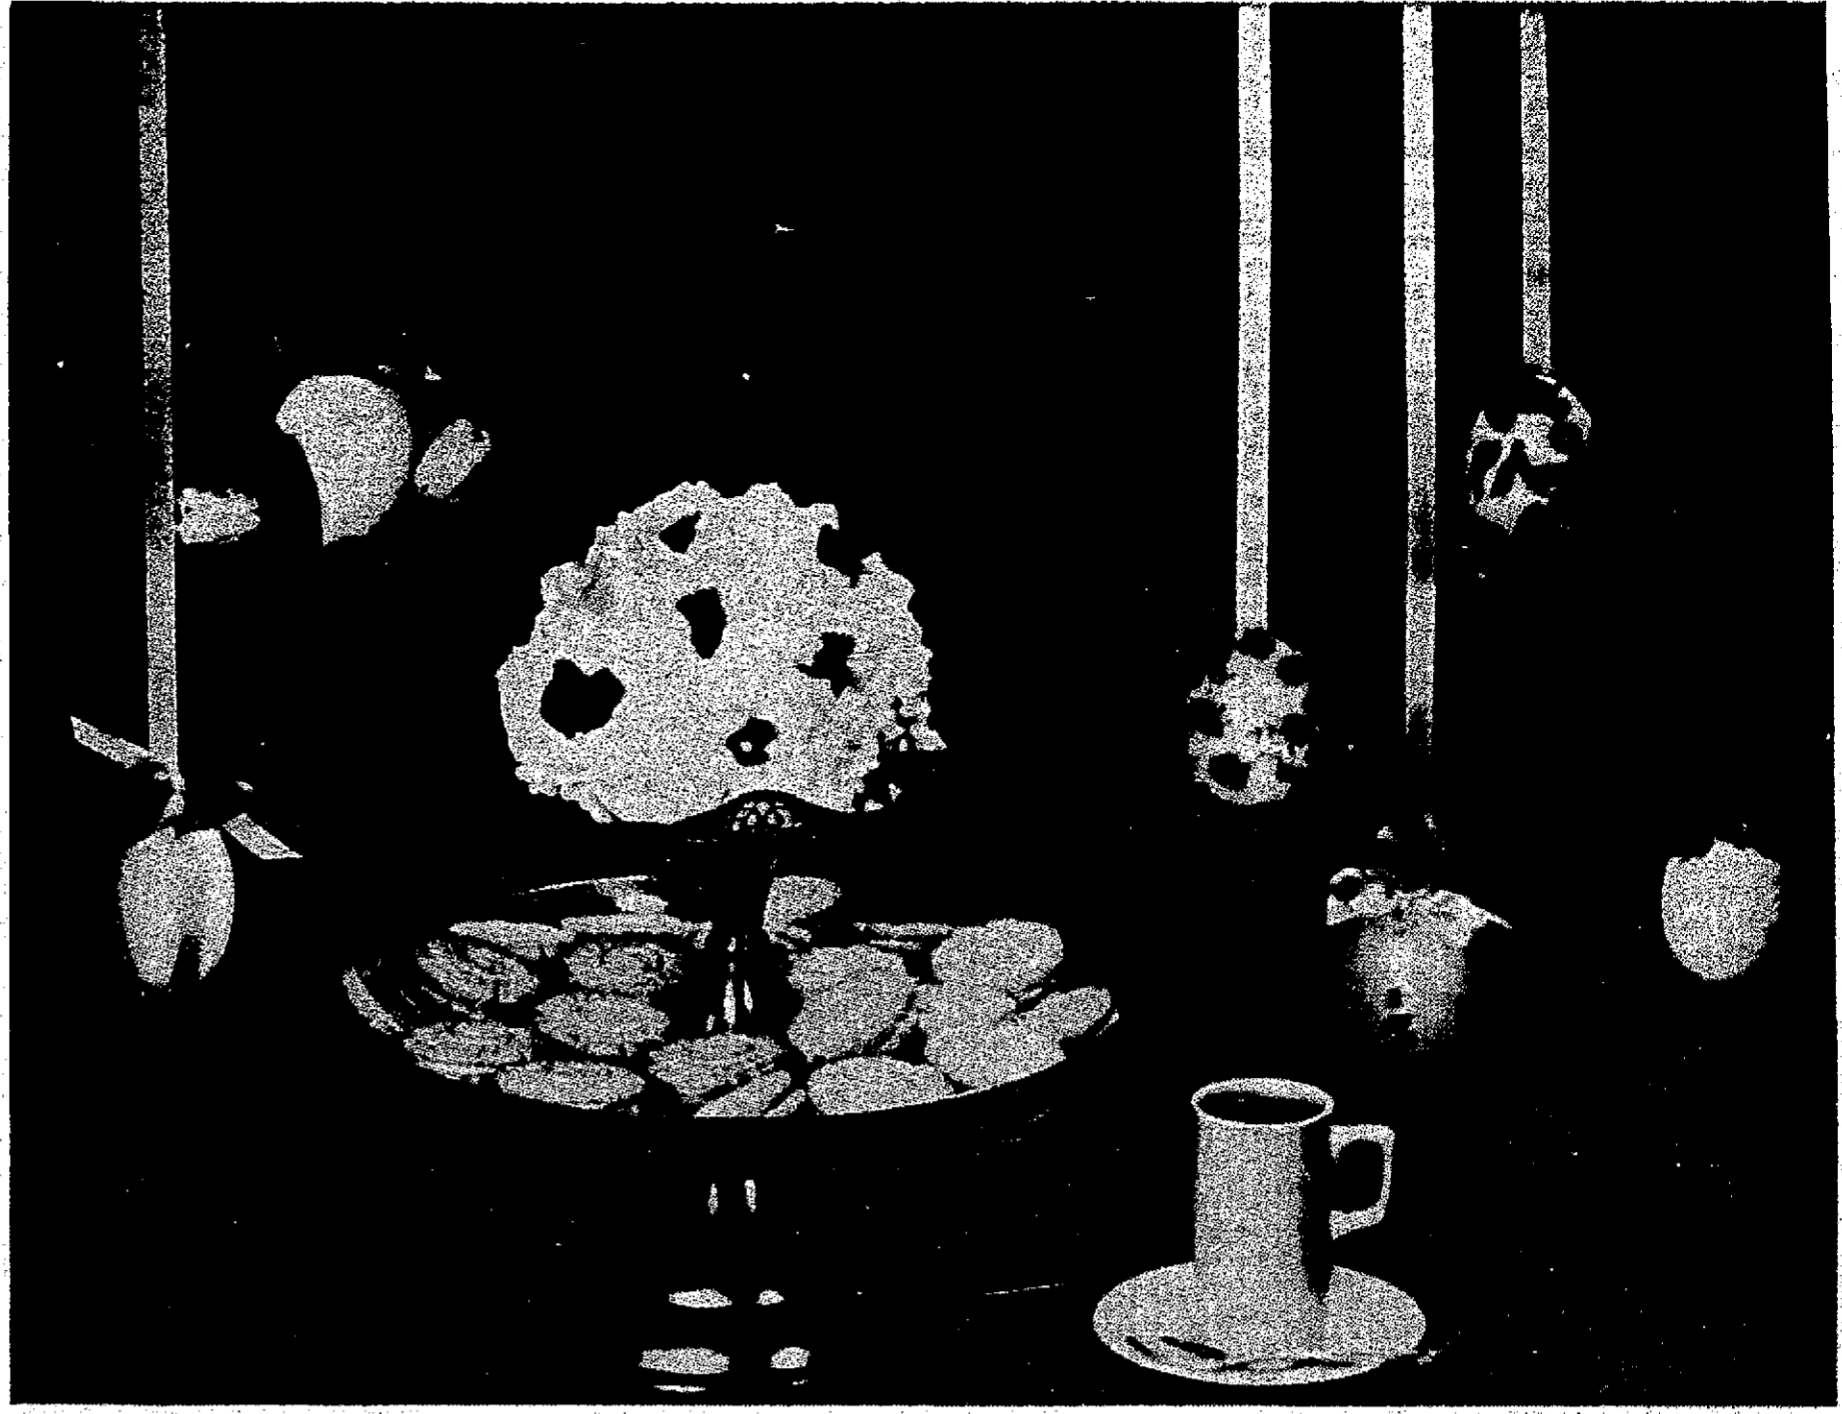

Whatever the choice . . . they all are a culinary inspiration to add to the home-maker's collection of Special Recipes. Perfect for serving on Easter Sunday, they all may be used for other occasions . . . the delightful, coconut-flecked lamb for children's parties . . . the French dessert for any special event that calls for a culinary triumph . . . the bonnet cake for small bridge luncheons and club parties.

One word to the wise, however . . . dress up your Easter or party table to match the dessert in mood. No animal figurines, nests of gaily colored eggs or hopping bunnies with the French dessert. They go beautifully with the informal desserts . . . as do fresh flowers . . . but the Snowball dessert demands a more formal setting. Delicately tinted eggshells, trimmed with an eye for beauty, make a lovely Easter setting for this dessert . . . or a formal table bouquet of spring blooms, carefully arranged in crystal or lustrous metal bowls.

This Unusual Easter bonnet comes from the kitchen and it's beautifully decorated with the colors of the season. All it takes is a three-layer cake, white butter frosting and one of those versatile do-it-yourself decorating kits for icing and gels. This is how it's done: first, form elongated leaf clusters at upper right with leaf tip on tube of green icing. Next, pierce two marshmallows with toothpick and place in center of one leaf cluster . . . place a second pair in second leaf cluster. Then, with star tip in tube of yellow icing, cover marshmallows with clusters of stars to form spring flowers. The star tip can form the border icings on the cake in yellow and the scroll on the sides of the cake in pink. Red decorating gel is used for the Happy Easter greeting. Fresh flowers . . . daffodils in this case . . . give the final touch to the cake plate just before serving time.

Handsomely Decorated Eggshells suspended by pretty satin ribbons form an Easter background for Snowball dessert . . . Boule de Neige. As delectable as it looks, the Snowball has a vanilla ice cream center filled with fruits and peels that have been marinated in Kirsch or pineapple juice. Crystallized violet candies decorate the rosette topping of whipped cream.

Serve Hearty Salad For Holiday Supper

Easter Sunday supper should be just as gala as the big dinner to round out the festive day.

This can be accomplished rather easily . . . together with solving the problem of leftovers. Use the hard-boiled Easter eggs the youngsters have gathered in the morning, combining them with bits of leftover ham, cream cheese and cooked rice. The salad mixture may be formed into individual egg shapes, if desired.

Served with a Sour Cream Dressing that's tangy and delicious on beds of shredded lettuce, the salads make a simple but hearty meal that keeps the holiday mood to day's end.

To save time, fuss and extra work, it's a good idea to cook the rice ahead of time. Place in foil or a covered bowl and store in the refrigerator for immediate use when the supper hour arrives. If desired, the rice may be tinted slightly by adding a few drops of yellow or red food coloring to the cooking water.

Here are the recipes for the salads and dressing:

Easter Egg Salad
3 ounces cream cheese

- 1 tablespoon vinegar
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 3 cups cooked rice
 - 6 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
 - 1/2 cup chopped celery
 - 1/2 cup chopped dill pickle
 - 1/2 cup diced ham
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - shredded lettuce
 - parsley
 - sour cream dressing
- Soften cream cheese with vinegar and Worcestershire sauce. Blend in rice, chopped eggs, celery, pickle, ham and seasonings. Form into 16 egg shapes. Arrange on nests of shredded lettuce. Garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve with dressing. Two egg-served with eggs.

shapes may be served for each salad.

Sour Cream Dressing
1 cup sour cream
1 1/2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 1/2 teaspoons grated onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon paprika

Combine all ingredients and mix well until thoroughly blended.

Pork Shoulder
A small boneless smoked pork shoulder butt is a good choice for a family of two. The left-overs can be utilized in cracker spreads and sandwich fillings, thin strips of the meat can be added to a chef's salad, and slices can be browned lightly in butter and serve with dressing. Two egg-served with eggs.

Physical Activity Solves Many Boys' Problems

BY ANGELO PATRI

"My boy, 17, likes very much a pretty classmate. He often is at her house. The trouble is that the mother entertains married men and it seems to me that the atmosphere is all wrong. I don't like the set-up. What can I do?"
"Try to direct the boy's attention in another direction and do this with subtle indirection.
Could you get him away on a trip, on a visit to relatives? Could he be interested in some kind of group activity: two or three boys go on a camping trip, hiking, anything that will fill his days to overflowing and leave as little time as possible to devote to the girl.
Bring other young people to your home and gradually wear him away. It is unwise to deal with a situation like this directly because that is likely to arouse the boy's chivalry. The idea is to direct his attention elsewhere for a period long enough to change his ideas.

sex organs and to prescribe the right diet for him. This is very important. He should have little meat, few sweets, no spices or highly seasoned foods, plenty of milk and fresh vegetables.
He needs plenty of outdoor activity. Attach him to some group like the Cubs, where he will have association with other boys under wise leadership. *to go hiking, swimming, ball playing, camping find it.

to turn to his body for amusement. The child should be instructed about his body, the names of its various parts, what they are for and what they mean to his health and happiness.
Try not to worry too much about this matter. Masturbation is not uncommon in young children, but it is a habit that does not last when a child is healthy, happy and busy.

See if there is any outside pressure, the taunting of schoolmates, failures in his school work. Is he timid with the group? Any of these things or all of them combined, drive children to seek comfort in any way they can.

Jazz Troupe Plays for Dignitaries

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Iran's royal family—bedecked in medals and jewels—saw a finger-snapping jazz band and a snappy jazz band staged at the White House.

It came as the climax Wednesday night to a glittering state dinner President and Mrs. Kennedy gave for the shah of Iran and his young queen, Farah.

Queen Farah's gown was encrusted with sparkling sequins, gold and jewels. She wore a heavy tiara of diamonds encircling seven enormous emeralds—a pattern repeated in a peckle and in her earrings.

Mrs. Kennedy showed up a new hairdo—called a "brioche"—and wore a Chez Minom creation with a sleeveless white satin top and a heavy floor length silk skirt in hot pink. There was a diamond sunburst pin in her hair and she wore diamond drop earrings.

The shah had a crescent of a dozen or so medals suspended from ribbons across his chest.

The center of attraction after the state dinner was Jerome Robbins' "Ballet: U.S.A." It was the first time a ballet company had ever performed in the White House. The dancers put on their show on a special stage that took up nearly half the East Room, to the light of dimmed crystal chandeliers.

The performance emphasized contemporary developments in the American dance, beginning with a modern version of "Afternoon of a Faun" and ending with five jazz themes.

"One of the boys in the ballet troop confided to Kennedy: "This is the dressiest audience we ever played to."

Said Kennedy: "That doesn't happen every night."

Frozen Foods for Family Meals

BY MARY BETH KUESTER
Home Economist
Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

An excellent way to make sure you're giving your family essential vitamins and minerals is to serve lots of frozen foods. These foods are frozen at their peak of flavor and freshness. Quick freezing locks in nature's store of vitamins and minerals as well as eating enjoyment.

Your food budget benefits when you take advantage of specials on frozen foods. Your home freezer will preserve all their fresh flavor and keep them handy for later use.

So be sure you get all the nutritional goodness of frozen foods by asking the checkout clerk to put your frozen foods in a separate paper bag to keep them cold. Go directly home with your food supply and put frozen foods in your freezer as soon as you get home.

For vegetable variety in your meals try new recipes to tempt appetites. An example - smooth and tasty corn pudding. It's ready in your oven at meal time, saving precious last minutes.

Corn Pudding
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon pepper
3 cups milk
1 teaspoon grated onion

4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 pkgs. frozen sweet corn kernels
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
Melt butter. Add flour, sugar, salt and pepper, mixing well to blend. Add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook and stir over medium heat until thickened. Remove from heat. Add onion.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. Is there an explanation for a cat's "kneading" with its paws? It never occurred to me that there might even be reasons for such antics until I read that when cats turn on their backs, and expose their unprotected, vital stomachs, they are expressing trust, confidence and friendliness. So, what are they saying eggs and corn and mix well. Carefully stir in pimiento. Spoon into 1½ quart baking dish.

Place in pan of hot water and bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees until firm, about one hour. Recipe serves from six to eight persons.

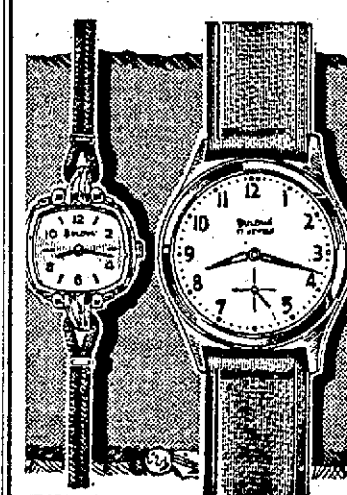

For a meal that centers around a frozen vegetable, you might try this new way of serving asparagus. It makes a good meatless main dish.

Asparagus with Blue Cheese
¼ cup butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
4 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled
3 ounces blue cheese, crumbled
10-ounce package frozen asparagus
4 slices toast
Melt butter over low heat. Add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, bacon bits and crumbled cheese. Blend well. Keep mixture hot. Cook asparagus in minimum amount of water, just until tender. Arrange cooked asparagus on toast. Pour hot sauce over asparagus and serve.

with their "kneading"? Mrs. E. C. Foulkes, Jacksonville, Fla. A. I've never heard this explanation for a cat rolling on its back before, but it seems to have some truth to it. The "kneading" of the paws may be due to a fungus infection of the feet. It may be a desire to sharpen claws or it may be an idiosyncrasy of your cat, just as some people scratch their heads or pull at their ear lobes. If you've had his feet examined and they are free of disease, ignore his antics as it will do him no harm.

Your Problems?

Husband's Procrastination Fosters Wife's Stubbornness

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our Christmas tree is still standing in the sun parlor. My husband for seven years. Every time I brought up the subject of marriage his ex-wife was injected into the act. She needed an operation — one of the children was doing poorly in school and had to have special tutoring. The house had to be repaired. Something connected with his first family invariably seemed to pop up and used every bit of his spare cash.

My sweetheart was forever on the long distance phone with his ex-wife about one thing or another. Finally in sheer desperation I said to him, "Why don't you go back to her?" His reply knocked me off my pins. He said, "I think I will." And he did. They were remarried last week.

I'll wager that 90 per cent of the ex-wives who have not remarried would like to have their men back. It took me seven years to wake up and smell the coffee, as you say. Now I wouldn't touch a divorced man with a 10-foot pole. — Sadder But Wiser

Dear Wiser: My mail tells me your guess is a good one. And this is one reason I urge people who eye the divorce courts as the Cure-All to simmer down and take a good look at the big picture. To paraphrase Shakespeare's lines, "It's better to stick to the troubles you are acquainted with and learn how to handle them than to fly off into a world of troubles you know nothing about."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Now that the weather is getting lovely again I know I'll be faced with the same old problem — the next door neighbor. She's pleasant and we get along well but our back doors are very close together and she is over here a lot.

We have a telephone in the kitchen which has a long cord. Often when I'm in the back I put the phone on the table in the yard. When the phone rings she makes a run for it, even if I am closer.

Sometimes she chats with my friends and this irritates me. I hate to tell her not to answer my phone because I know she does it to be helpful. What is a tactful approach — or am I being picayunish? — Edgy

Dear Edgy: It's poor manners to answer someone else's phone unless you are asked to do so. Simply tell her that you see no reason for her to be bothered with your calls and from now on you'll answer.

Are you tempted to smoke because the crowd does? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Smoking," enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

(Copyright, 1962)

I've held out so long I'd hate to give in now and take the tree down for him. Any suggestions would be welcome. — Iron Woman

Dear Iron Woman: I do have a suggestion. Take the tree down yourself. That moth-eaten symbol of your husband's procrastination is also a monument to your own stubbornness. Win on something else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've learned a lot from your column and now I hope you'll print this letter so someone else can learn from my sad experience.

I went with a divorced man for seven years. Every time I brought up the subject of marriage his ex-wife was injected into the act. She needed an operation — one of the children was doing poorly in school and had to have special tutoring. The house had to be repaired. Something connected with his first family invariably seemed to pop up and used every bit of his spare cash.

My sweetheart was forever on the long distance phone with his ex-wife about one thing or another. Finally in sheer desperation I said to him, "Why don't you go back to her?" His reply knocked me off my pins. He said, "I think I will." And he did. They were remarried last week.

I'll wager that 90 per cent of the ex-wives who have not remarried would like to have their men back. It took me seven years to wake up and smell the coffee, as you say. Now I wouldn't touch a divorced man with a 10-foot pole. — Sadder But Wiser

Dear Wiser: My mail tells me your guess is a good one. And this is one reason I urge people who eye the divorce courts as the Cure-All to simmer down and take a good look at the big picture. To paraphrase Shakespeare's lines, "It's better to stick to the troubles you are acquainted with and learn how to handle them than to fly off into a world of troubles you know nothing about."

SARDINES FOR SUPPER

Place a slice of cheese and tomato on bread. Top with drained, small sardines and bake in a hot oven until cheese is bubbly.

Add drained, small sardines to a vegetable salad; top with a slice of hard cooked egg for a salad treat.

Mix up your favorite Spanish rice mixture. Put on a platter and arrange drained, large sardines on top.

French fry sardines.

Dip drained, large sardines in seasoned flour and fry in deep fat until brown and crisp.

THE LEARNING experiences your children have in school, Scouts, or other organizations are valuable. But there's nothing like practical application or amplification at home to bring these experiences to life. For example, your daughter may become an expert cook if you encourage her to create in your kitchen. Make light of her mistakes, praise her successes (by eating them).

Kaukauna BPW Elects Slate Of Officers

Mrs. William Glasheen was named president and Miss Mabel Learman, vice president, at a recent meeting of the Kaukauna Business and Professional Women's Club.

Other officers named were Mrs. Byron Detrick, recording secretary; Mrs. George Hurst, treasurer; and Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, corresponding secretary. New directors are Miss Lorraine Dudley, Mrs. George Zwick, Mrs. Florence Ditter and Mrs. George Hurst.

Mrs. Carl Andersen headed the nominating committee assisted by Mrs. Ditter and Mrs. C. J. Hansen. Plans were made to observe the thirtieth anniversary of the club at the May meeting. In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Merritt Black and Mrs. Hurst.

Guest speaker was Miss Sandra Kern, Kaukauna High School senior, who attended Badger Girls State under the sponsorship of the club. Entertainment was provided by the girls' triple trio of Kaukauna High School.

Don't Paint Bottom of Rusty Can

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: This fall I bought a 3-gal. lon sprayer at a sale. Now I find the inside of the container is rusty and the water becomes a rusty brown. Is there some way to remove the rust and paint the inside? The plunger is in the same condition. I plan to scrape the rust off and paint it with aluminum paint.

A: Getting all the rust from the inside of the sprayer is a little difficult, but perfectly possible. Start out by completely filling the sprayer with kerosene and leave it for a week or two (being careful of the fire hazard). Then give it ample working time at softening the rust. Then you can and Gardens, etc.) If really serious, slightly different shade.

probably get it all off with steel wool. Probably one of rust-removing preparations now available some hardware and paint dealers will work faster, but some amount required could be quite costly; follow label directions carefully.

Frankly, painting it is a waste of time, because most chemicals used in a sprayer will make short work of most paints, even the best. All you have to do when through with it is to rinse it thoroughly and carefully with the detergent, then rinse and dry.

Side Hill Cottage

Q: I am planning on building a cottage which of necessity must be built into the side of a hill and am looking around for a fabric spray for use on the difficult, but perfectly possible. Can you suggest a rug, carpets, draperies, upholstery. Start out by completely filling the sprayer with kerosene and leave it for a week or two (being careful of the fire hazard). Then give it ample working time at softening the rust. Then you can and Gardens, etc.) If really serious, slightly different shade.

Old World Charm is recaptured in the new and quick recipe for Hot Cross Buns, a traditional bread for the Lenten season. Made with a no-knead method, the light golden brown buns are studded with tasty currants to make a spicy treat for any occasion.

Easter Bread

New Method Used For Hot Cross Buns

"One a penny, two a penny, buns at medium speed in electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand until smooth. Add remaining flour and beat about two minutes more until batter is thick and smooth. Scrape batter down from beaters occasionally, if mixer is used. Mix in currants last.

Grease 24 muffin cups. Drop one heaping tablespoon of batter into each cup. Cover with greased waxed paper and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until double in bulk. This will take about 30 to 45 minutes. Bake in

CYO Council Plans Program

Plans for an integrated, all city CYO summer program were discussed at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the newly formed CYO Council meeting at Xavier High School. Mr. and Mrs. William Putzer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert De Noble, Mr. and Mrs. George Muntner, Mr. and Mrs. Earl De Bruin and Mr. and Mrs. Donald West, representing the five Catholic parishes, met with the CYO spiritual directors to discuss future expansion and the development of a year round city wide CYO program.

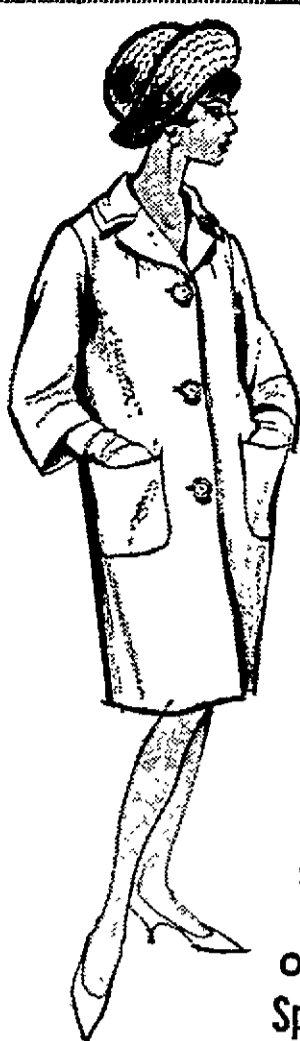

The next meeting will be at 8:30 p.m. April 20 at the high school.

Party Sandwiches

Try this delicious sandwich which can be assembled hours ahead of serving, then popped under the broiler flame about five minutes before serving. Butter slices of rye bread and place a slice of boiled ham on each. Spread 1/4 cup of sauerkraut over the ham and a slice of Swiss cheese on top of that. Mix 2 tablespoons mayonnaise with 2 tablespoons catsup and spread over the cheese. Place the sandwich under the broiler. When the cheese is melted, serve it immediately.

Leftover Beef

If you're in a hurry and there's a little leftover roast beef that you'd like to turn into a main dish, make the meat into hash using canned potatoes. Serve with poached eggs and chili sauce.

Sheinwold Look Ahead For Danger

To play expert bridge you don't have to be a sour-faced pessimist sniffing every breeze for the scent of danger. Actually, our faces got that sour look through playing with partners who never looked ahead to provide against misfortune.

won with dummy's queen of diamonds and lost a trump finesse to the king.

Back came a diamond to the ace, and South drew one more trump with the ace. Then declarer led out the ace of clubs, gulping unhappily when he discovered that East was sure to take the setting trick with the jack or nine of clubs.

North didn't say anything but his face would have curdled milk. He knew that his partner had tossed away a cold contract.

Only One Danger
After South has lost two hearts and a spade he has the rest of the tricks with ease unless one opponent has all four clubs. Which opponent can that be?

West probably needs a six-card suit for his vulnerable overall at the level of two. When West shows up with two spades and at least two diamonds, it becomes clear that West cannot possibly have as many as four clubs.

However, East can have four clubs. To guard against this, South should begin the clubs by leading low to dummy's queen. West's discard reveals the situation, and South can lead a club through East to capture the nine. South returns to dummy with a trump to lead another club through East, and now the contract is home.

Dealer: at your left, bids one club. Your partner doubles, and the next player passes. You hold S 6 4 H 8 4 3 D 10 9 6 3 C J 9 6 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. This is far from a hopeless hand. In any case, the weaker your hand, the more important it is to respond to partner's takeout double.

Service Circle Reports on 'At Home' Teas

Members of the Service Circle of The King's Daughters discussed their series of "At Home" teas when they met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Theiss, 301 W. Prospect Ave. The first of the teas was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Arthur Diedrich. The second will take place Saturday at the Rudolph Vogt residence, and the third is planned April 28 at the Alex. Manier home.

The Community Guidance Center report was given by Miss Margaret Walsh. Mrs. E. J. Vollmer discussed the progress of the Teen Toppers and gave the Service Emergency Report. The King Daughter's Council report was given by Mrs. Gerald Schomisch. Miss Helen McGrath told of the Community Blood Center.

It was announced that Mrs. Vollmer will be chairman of the spring rummage sale May 24 and 25 at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Karl Langlois and Mrs. Vollmer.

Creative Desserts For Easter Dinner

Another tip worth considering is that none of these desserts is difficult to prepare, unless the do-it-yourself decorating of the Easter Bonnet Cake could be called a chore. We think it's more in the fun category and beginners can leave off the message if the lettering seems too difficult. The frosting trim is a matter of squeezing the tubes of tinted frosting after the proper decorating tip is placed in them. The decorating kit for cakes comes with a detailed set of instructions as easy to follow as a primer book.

Sometimes things look harder than they really are. Here are the recipes for two of the three unusual desserts. Directions for decorating the Easter Bonnet Cake are under the picture.

Boule de Neige
 16 ounces fruits and peels
 1/4 cup Kirsch or pineapple juice
 2 quarts vanilla ice cream

1 cup heavy cream
 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract violet candies
 small dainty cookies

Marinate the fruits and peels in Kirsch or pineapple juice overnight in covered container. Mix fruit and juice with ice cream. Spoon into deep two-quart mixing bowl or spherical bombe mold. Freeze until cream is solid. Unmold on serving dish and return to freezer.

Whip cream with confectioners' sugar and vanilla. Pipe through rosette tip of pastry tube, making small rosettes all over the dessert to completely cover the ice cream.

Decorate with crystallized violets or other candies. Serve with wafers or small, dainty cookies. Recipe makes eight to 10 servings. This dessert is served in small wedges because it is very rich.

Easter Lamb

For the cook who is fortunate enough to have a special lamb mold, this cake is easy. But it's not hard to do in ordinary pans, either. Bake a white cake, either from scratch or with a prepared mix, in a nine-inch square pan. Cut the cake into two rectangles, one one-inch wider than the other.

The widest rectangle will be the lamb's body. Place it in the center of a large tray. Cut the remaining rectangle in two parts, one portion about an inch longer than the other. Attach the smaller piece of cake to the lamb's body for the head.

Then cut the last piece of cake into four strips and arrange as front and back legs.

7-Minute Frosting
 Prepare a generous amount of Seven - Minute Frosting. Spread a thin layer along the connecting edges of the lamb figure. Swirl the rest of the frosting over the top and sides of the lamb, rounding off corners and mounding the frosting high to form the tail and ears.

Sprinkle flaked coconut over the frosting and color some pink to place on the tips of the lamb's feet and inside of ears. This can be done by shaking or mixing coconut with a few drops of red vegetable coloring and a few drops of water in a paper bag.

For the features, press a small red gumdrop into frosted cake for a nose, use a slice of gumdrop for mouth; cut an oval shape for the eye.

To finish the dessert, place an inedible but pretty pink ribbon bow around the neck.

Khrushchev's Big Cold War Gamble Is Soviet Agriculture

Trying to Get Away With Heresy In Curing Chronic Food Problem

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN

Red East Germany's leaders have just completed a long session belaboring farmers for failures and exhorting them to produce more.

He is gambling that he can get away with heresy in a desperate attempt to cure the chronic food troubles which historically beset Soviet and other Communist-ruled lands.

If he wins out in a relatively short period of years, the Kremlin can consider it a victory far more important than taking over a new slice of real estate.

Job Endangered

If he loses, he can lose his job. Persistent failure of Communist agriculture is regarded in Washington as one of the most important aspects of the cold war.

President Kennedy is known to feel that if the USSR, while it still is led by those obsessed with the notion of world domination, should ever out-produce the United States in food and consumer goods, the cause of the whole free world would be in danger.

Agricultural failures are common to the whole Red bloc, an ever-present reminder to other countries that communism means anything but abundance.

Red China is in a perpetual state of crisis in food supply.

From China's Pacific coast to the Red toehold in the Caribbean, the story is the same: Most Communists are hungry. On Khrushchev's own testimony, the Soviet Union produced less grain and had less livestock in 1953 than it did under the czars.

What are the reasons for communism's serious inability to provide for its millions? An AP news analyst suggests the answers in this second in a two-part series on the Communist food crisis.

grain and frequently even such humble staples as potatoes. Bulgaria and Poland both have had to turn to the United States for grain purchases. Of all the Communist states, only advanced Czechoslovakia has made a show of meeting her farm problems, but even Czech production continues under prewar, pre-Communist levels.

What's the matter with Communist agriculture?

Stalin Era

Causes of the failures go all the way back to the early days of the Stalin era. Because communism requires blind obedience, other regimes imitated Stalin and suffered similar consequences.

Shortly after Stalin died nine years ago, Khrushchev, rising rapidly to pre-eminence in the party, boldly exposed the frightful mess that was Soviet agriculture. By his account, Soviet output of grain and the livestock population both were lower in 1953 than in czarist 1913.

Soviet agriculture received a heavy blow when Stalin forced collectivization with a campaign of slaughter of unwilling peasants. That brought the U.S.S.R. to the edge of famine.

Industry's Priority

Food production troubles were intensified by Stalin's insistence that heavy industry, which builds world and military power, retain priority over the consumer side.

Khrushchev continues to insist on that but with some modifications. The investment in heavy industry prevented delivery of sufficient farm machinery, fertilizer and other essentials for modern farming to feed huge populations. Productivity suffered. Even today one Soviet farm worker can produce only enough to feed five persons. One U.S. farm worker produces enough to feed 40 persons.

Private Sector

Khrushchev blamed Stalin. He said there had been too much bureaucracy, too much toadying to the boss, too much "indulging in eyewash." All decisions had to be made at the center and problems could not be solved on the spot.

Today—as for years—the most productive side of Soviet farming is the private sector, the produce of peasants' own small plots which they sell on the free market. Khrushchev intends eventually to eliminate this, as too closely resembling capitalism. But he must have something in its place.

He is seeking what he calls material incentives. He proposes bonuses for production, payment in kind in goods, payment of both managers and farmers on the basis of what they produce.

He experiments with decentralized authority. He demands radical reorganization of collective farms. He demands that managers solve their problems on the spot without reference to a central bureaucracy. He demands cost reduction.

Some of his proposals smack of heresy to doctrinaire Communists. He heresies add to the bloc's ideological confusion.

But doctrine still gets in the way. When Khrushchev commits heresy he creates new doctrine and it, too, can be followed out the window.

Disastrous Results

For example, Khrushchev currently is campaigning against the grasslands system which ruled Soviet farming under Stalin. This involves rotation of crops with planting of grass in alternate years. It was intended by its sponsor, Prof. Vasily Williams, son of a U.S. engineer, only for the humid northwest areas.

But once Stalin blessed the system, fearful underlings adopted it all over the nation rather than risk being accused of treason. Results were disastrous. Now Khrushchev is blasting the system. This can mean its abandonment all over the country, Soviet politics being what they are, with new disastrous results.

Ever since Khrushchev came to power he has been promising the Red world that Soviet food and consumer goods production would catch up with and surpass that of the United States. Year after year he revises his estimate. The promise for catching up now stands at 1970, for surpassing at 1980.

But in 1961, by Khrushchev's own figures, meat production fell three million tons short of planned output, grain and milk each by more than 16 million. Khrushchev is raising the roof.

Khrushchev has lost several big agricultural bets in the past. But he is an inveterate gambler. If he wins this time he will be a hero of communism. If he loses there can be convulsions all over the Red bloc.

Man Fined $50 for Disorderly Conduct

sons. One U.S. farm worker produces enough to feed 40 persons.

Private Sector

Khrushchev blamed Stalin. He said there had been too much bureaucracy, too much toadying to the boss, too much "indulging in eyewash." All decisions had to be made at the center and problems could not be solved on the spot.

Today—as for years—the most productive side of Soviet farming is the private sector, the produce of peasants' own small plots which they sell on the free market. Khrushchev intends eventually to eliminate this, as too closely resembling capitalism. But he must have something in its place.

He is seeking what he calls material incentives. He proposes bonuses for production, payment in kind in goods, payment of both managers and farmers on the basis of what they produce.

He experiments with decentralized authority. He demands radical reorganization of collective farms. He demands that managers solve their problems on the spot without reference to a central bureaucracy. He demands cost reduction.

Some of his proposals smack of heresy to doctrinaire Communists. He heresies add to the bloc's ideological confusion.

But doctrine still gets in the way. When Khrushchev commits heresy he creates new doctrine and it, too, can be followed out the window.

Disastrous Results

For example, Khrushchev currently is campaigning against the grasslands system which ruled Soviet farming under Stalin. This involves rotation of crops with planting of grass in alternate years. It was intended by its sponsor, Prof. Vasily Williams, son of a U.S. engineer, only for the humid northwest areas.

But once Stalin blessed the system, fearful underlings adopted it all over the nation rather than risk being accused of treason. Results were disastrous. Now Khrushchev is blasting the system. This can mean its abandonment all over the country, Soviet politics being what they are, with new disastrous results.

Ever since Khrushchev came to power he has been promising the Red world that Soviet food and consumer goods production would catch up with and surpass that of the United States. Year after year he revises his estimate. The promise for catching up now stands at 1970, for surpassing at 1980.

But in 1961, by Khrushchev's own figures, meat production fell three million tons short of planned output, grain and milk each by more than 16 million. Khrushchev is raising the roof.

Khrushchev has lost several big agricultural bets in the past. But he is an inveterate gambler. If he wins this time he will be a hero of communism. If he loses there can be convulsions all over the Red bloc.

Man Fined $50 for Disorderly Conduct

CLINTONVILLE — Herman Lemke, 27, of 54 Lincoln Ave., Clintonville, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $50 when he appeared before Municipal Justice Harold Hedtke.

Clintonville police arrested Lemke Friday.

Name Geurts to Fill Unexpired Term of Clerk

KAUKAUNA — Fred H. Geurts, route 2, Kaukauna, was named by the town board Tuesday to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Arnold Deering as clerk of the Town of Kaukauna.

Geurts will serve until April, 1963. Mrs. Deering resigned because of other duties. The new clerk had been assessor and had served one year, but resigned this office to accept the clerk's position. The town board will name a new assessor at a later date.

Geurts is married and the father of 13 children. He served three terms as town supervisor and was clerk for the Apple Creek School for 12 years.

Appleton Vandals Land in Jail After Boasting About Spree

Two 17-year-old Appleton youths who bragged to the wrong people about their escapades are being held in Outagamie County jail.

The youths will be charged with doing an estimated $1,800 damage to five cars during a vandalism spree the night of April 6 in city parking lot No. 7.

They told police they sat in one of the cars to get out of the rain, and one of the youths tilted a rear view mirror. When he straightened it, it broke, he said, and touched off the vandalism spree.

The ignition wires were torn from several of the cars, a windshield was smashed by an air cleaner removed from a car, and the top of one of the cars was caved in and mirrors and accessories were smashed.

The youths were arrested after an investigation by Detectives Jerome Kavaney and Robert Frailing, who learned the youths had been bragging of their spree to associates.

Police said today a waiver from juvenile court will be sought. If the waiver is granted by Judge Raymond P. Dohr, the youths will appear before County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

AHS Musicians to be In Area Symphony at Teachers Convention

Nine members of the Appleton High School orchestra will perform at Oshkosh Friday morning in an area high school symphony orchestra, as part of the program for the Central Wisconsin teachers convention.

The Appleton students will join with orchestra members from other area schools to perform under the direction of Fredrick Muller, nationally known director and string teacher.

The Appleton musicians taking part in the program are violinists Carole Ruth, Ken Gibson, Sharie Hartzheim, Joanne Bystrom, and Alice Ruth; violist Beth Beckman, cellist Jeanne Scribner, and Ann McMahon and Dave Kreuger, string bass players.

The orchestra will rehearse Thursday evening in Oshkosh, and all out of town members will be guests of Oshkosh orchestra members.

Damaged Blood Vessels in Brain Repaired by Surgery

CHICAGO (AP)—A story of how a jacket on the distended part of a swollen, weakened blood vessel of the blood vessel, constricts the vessel and prevents further expansion. The plastic jacket was told by a medical team.

The medical men, writing in the Journal of the American Medical Association, said such surgery has had gratifying results in patients who were incapacitated.

A woman, 52, resumed a normal life six months after the operation. Another woman, 40, returned to her teaching post in two months. A 61-year-old woman was able to perform limited household chores.

The plastic is a silicone rubber that can be prepared and applied easily and molded precisely. It firms up rapidly. Although tough enough to contain the bulge, it is elastic enough to permit the blood to flow unimpeded.

The technique was developed for more complicated blood vessel distentions that can't be corrected by tying off circulation to the affected area of the head.

No adverse reaction to the implanted plastic has been encountered, the report said, but further study is needed to make a better evaluation of the procedure.

Lawrence Says

Kennedy Uses The Law to His Own Advantage

Following the Constitution Can Win or Lose Votes

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—"Disregard the Constitution if it gets you more votes—and hold on tightly to the Constitution if you want to lock the passage of a law that could lose you votes."

This apparently is the Kennedy administration's code of political strategy as manifested now with respect to some proposed laws before Congress.

For although the Constitution explicitly and plainly says that qualifications for voting by American citizens shall be determined by the states alone, Attorney General Kennedy now says in effect, in a public statement to a Senate subcommittee, that it is all right for Congress to ignore this Constitutional provision. He takes the position that Congress can pass a law defining "literacy" as completion of a sixth-grade education.

Forbids Discrimination The Constitution does forbid discrimination in voting on the grounds of race or color or sex, and laws have been enacted to enforce those provisions. Voters now can be disqualified on the basis of illiteracy irrespective of race or color or sex. So no new law really is needed to prevent any discrimination, and only a Constitutional amendment can take away from the states the power to fix their own standards of literacy as a qualification for voting.

Coincidentally, the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro leader, is quoted as having said after a conference with the attorney general on Monday that Mr. Kennedy wants a bill passed by Congress because "he does not believe a Constitutional amendment can be ratified by enough states."

What becomes then of the mandate that the Constitution should be obeyed even if it contains what some folks think is a cumbersome way of adopting a new amendment? Why should any administration—and for that matter, some Republican senators from Eastern states, too—advocate the passage of a bill as a means of circumventing the Constitution?

Large Negro Vote

Thus, Sen. Javits and Keating of New York, and Gov. Rockefeller—all Republicans in a state with a large Negro constituency—seem to feel it is desirable to pass a law fixing literacy as the equivalent of a sixth-grade education.

The obsession for vote-getting seems to have seized other Republican leaders. Recently former Vice President Nixon in a new book lamented the fact that in the last presidential campaign he hadn't made enough of a play to the Negro vote in the big cities.

What these Republicans overlook is that the number of Negroes influenced by alleged discrimination practices are few, as effect, compared with those who are affected by unemployment and pocket book issues. For decades the Republicans reminded the Negroes that emancipation from slavery had been achieved for them by the Republican Party. But when President Franklin D. Roosevelt established the Works Progress Administration during the depression in 1933—giving handouts to millions of unemployed—the Negro voters forgot all about the "civil rights" record of the Republicans and joined the Democratic Party, notwithstanding the fact that the southern wing maintained a very decided influence in that particular party.

Inconsistency

It might be thought that the attorney general is inconsistent in going out of his way to avoid a move in favor of a Constitutional amendment as he concentrates instead on getting a law passed, inasmuch as this requires only a simple majority of both houses of Congress. Yet last year he declined to favor the passage of a law authorizing construction loans to parochial schools at the elementary-grade level—arguing that this is unconstitutional—even though supporting such loans at the college level. But Mr. Kennedy perhaps isn't really inconsistent, after all, for in this case, as in the matter of literacy tests, he is following the code that you ignore the Constitution when it helps you get votes, and you adhere to the Constitution when you think it might lose votes to do otherwise.

Since President Kennedy was elected in November, 1960, despite the campaign issue which charged that he would favor the Catholic Church, he has done everything he could to disabuse the Protestants

Spoon Robin Hood Flour right from the bag. You don't have to sift ever because Robin Hood is already pre-sifted through micro-fine silk. For old style sifting recipes take out one level tablespoon of flour from every cup called for in the recipe.

Just stir the other dry ingredients together with Robin Hood Flour to blend. No sifting here either. Not only does this new way of baking with Robin Hood save time and trouble but you actually get better, tastier baking, too.

Robin Hood is the only flour that promises you no more sifting and better baking, too. Only because of Robin Hood's unusually high quality and uniformity and because it is pre-sifted through micro-fine silk, can we make you this promise.

pizzicato solo, Gary Dresang, a bass solo, and Marian Davidson, an alto sax solo. Judy Vandehy will sing a soprano solo and Johanna Vander Weilen, a mezzo soprano solo.

A vocal duet in class B will be offered by Judy Vandehy and Johanna Vander Weilen. Pam Hietpas and Yvonne Van Gompel will play a drum duet. Robert Kriekamp and Allen Van Dyke will present a cornet duet; Carol Huntington and Marianne Acker, a flute duet, and Cindy Thomas and Carol Welhouse, and Marilyn Kuboru and Drusilla Denton, clarinet duets.

A cornet quartet in class B will consist of Jack Couillard, Robert Kriekamp, Allen Van Dyke and Duanne Vanden Boogard. A clarinet quartet will be composed of Ruth Voights, Kathie Grones, Vickie Manley and Barbara DeBruin.

Dennis Mader and Robert Wildenberg will play trombone solos and also team up for a trombone duet in class C. John Trepto will play a cornet solo, Karen Couillard, a flute solo, and Vickie Seidel, Barbara Rooyackers, Joan Seivers and Kathleen Vanden Boogard, a clarinet quartet.

National Leader To Visit Legion At Little Chute

Charles Bacon Will Talk to Public at St. John May 8

LITTLE CHUTE — Charles L. Bacon, Kansas City, Mo., national commander of the American Legion, will visit at a May 8 meeting of the Little Chute chapter of the American Legion.

This will be one of three stops scheduled by the commander in his visit to Wisconsin, it was announced at a Little Chute meeting Monday. He will be honored at a 6 p.m. luncheon followed by a talk to the general public at 7:30 p.m. at St. John High School Auditorium.

Members voted to give $150 to the Legion Auxiliary to help carry out a child welfare program and approved $5 donations to the Red Cross and Easter Seal Campaign. Approval was given to the purchase of medals for drum and bugle corps members for participation in state tournaments.

Slate Of Officers

Sylvan Lamers presented a slate of officers for consideration. The election will take place at the May meeting. A past commander's dinner was set for May 15 at Min's Bar. A smoke ejector and flasher signal light were presented to Lester Sanders, fire chief, and letters of appreciation were read from St. John and Freedom High schools for the

Who's Jumping? Most Top Restaurants Usually Not Too Bright

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions: Many of the world's top restaurants have one thing in common—they are usually dimly lit. Why?

One theory is that it satisfies an unconscious human need—that from his cavernous past man has enjoyed eating his food in the dark.

A more probable reason is that middle-aged women, who control the spending of the real folding money, don't feel comfortable under bright lights that cruelly show their years.

Who's Stylish?

According to a recent news story, it now costs from $300 up to give a cat or dog a stylish funeral. But isn't anyone who spends that kind of money to bury a pet a victim of twisted emotions and mistaken values?

One sign that the population is getting older is the wide popularity of the New York Mets baseball team, managed by Casey Stengel, the pinup boy for girls over 65.

Delegates named to the county council dinner at Shiocton were Matt Vanden Boogard, Elmer Ryba, Carl Hammen, Ray Sanders, Donald Verstegen, Martin Jansen and Gordon Hammen.

Everyone who has ever had a twinge of rheumatism is rooting for the old-timer to make a comeback.

Conformity has reached a point where some men today are afraid to wear a red necktie for fear someone will think they are secret Communists.

You can't really trust a man who orders a martini with a cherry in it instead of an olive or onion. He's bound to be a showoff.

Most of the people who denounce today's teen-agers couldn't attend classes with them and pass the tests they do.

The best way to cure an introverted boy with an inferiority complex is to sign him up for a hitch in the U.S. Marines. No other organization does a better or quicker job of building up self-confidence.

Every hatcheck girl dreams of marrying a playboy millionaire, but after 10 years of standing on her feet she's usually glad to let a waiter or a musician put the ring on her finger.

Children seemed much more manageable in the old days when parents customarily put castor oil in their orange juice.

Mankind, despite the dismays of this world, remains incurably optimistic. Ask 10 passing people to give the meaning of life in a single word, and more than half will choose "love," "happiness," or "hope."

Bias Uncovered in Annuity Taxation

Teachers, Milwaukee County Workers Exempt, Others Aren't

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — State legislators scouting for inequities in the Wisconsin tax laws believe they have found some example in the discriminatory treatment of annuity and retirement income under the state income tax and inheritance tax laws.

Inconsistencies in the laws affecting thousands of elderly persons and their survivors were described to a legislative interim study committee by a representative of the state department of taxation at a meeting here Wednesday. The study committee is headed by Sen. A. A. Laun of Manitowish County.

Stanley Fruits of the department said the contradictions in the law, pointed out to previous legislative sessions without result, have followed from specific legislative amendments to the law on behalf of special groups over the years, and state court interpretations.

Some Forms Exempt

Fruits explained that some forms of public employee retirement benefits are exempt under the income tax laws of the state, including those covering Milwaukee public employees and the public school teachers of Wisconsin under the teachers' retirement fund.

But members of the state retirement fund, including ordinary state employees and most of the other municipal employees of Wisconsin, federal civil service employees, members of public retirement systems of other states and private retirement plans are subject to taxation to the extent that employer contributions make up the benefits paid.

Fruits also explained that, under the inheritance tax laws, retirement benefit rights transferred to a beneficiary after an employee's death, are exempt when they involve Milwaukee employees or public school teachers and most other public retirement systems and federal retirement plans, but are taxable when they are derived from most industrial or private retirement or annuity plans.

Laun and other members indicated that they will move for a correction of such inconsistencies, but they did not say whether they will propose broader exemption or broader tax liability. They will report their findings to the legislature at the next session, which starts next January.

Father Says Reds Trapped His Daughter

BY JOE DILL

CHICAGO (AP) — A distraught father says the Russians trapped his daughter behind the Iron Curtain after she returned to Lithuania to marry her high school sweetheart.

Miss Leonas

"I had warned Regina for a long time that she should not return to Lithuania," Vilnius said the father, Paulus Leonas. "But she didn't want to believe it."

Leonas talked freely but angrily about an article in the Soviet newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda Tuesday. The article quoted his daughter, Regina Leonas, 22, as saying the United States was a money-mad society and that she wanted to stay in her native Lithuania and never return to America.

"Actual Prisoner"

"Our daughter is an actual prisoner," Leonas said. "She would never have made those statements, because they are contrary to her convictions. She was forced by threats of violence."

"Regina would be ashamed if she saw what has been printed about her."

Regina and her brother were separated from their parents for 16 years during and after World War II. Regina returned to Vilnius, capital of Lithuania, last month to marry Stasys Bikulcius, a young music teacher whom she met in high school.

"I'm prepared to fight—to fight for my own family," Leonas asserted. "Regina had love for that boy, not for Moscow."

Members of Hollywood Race Relations Bureau File Suit for Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Twelve members of the Hollywood Race Relations Bureau have sued for $1.1 million damages because they were arrested on trespassing charges for picketing the Academy awards show Monday.

Named defendants in the action Wednesday were the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, sponsors of the awards; Santa Monica Police Chief Earl Reinbold; and John Boyle, identified as the Academy representative who signed the trespassing complaints.

The suit maintained that the pickets' rights to protest were violated. They were demonstrating against the purported failure of the motion picture industry to depict Negroes on a realistic basis in theater and television films.

At the time of the arrests the Academy contended—as a basis for the trespassing charges—that it had leased the Santa Monica Auditorium for the evening.

Sitterson Named Co-Chairman of Appleton Campaign

Paul E. Truttschel will be chairman and C. B. Sitterson, co-chairman of the 1962 United Red Feather Campaign, Harley O. Barney, president of the United Community Services, announced today.

The Red Feather Campaign is conducted each fall by the U. C. S. on behalf of those voluntary health, welfare and recreation agencies who wish to cooperate in this joint community effort. Nine agencies were included in the 1961 campaign.

Truttschel, vice president and sales manager of Appleton Coated Paper Co., was co-chairman of the 1961 campaign. He has worked on the Red Cross, cancer, and Appleton Memorial Hospital drives, and is a member of the Peabody Manor board of directors.

As troop committeeman for the Boy Scouts, Sitterson has been involved with one of the agencies supported through the Red Feather Campaign. He is director of research and development of Appleton Mills.

Selection of campaign leadership has started, report Truttschel and Sitterson. About 1200 workers will be needed to collect gifts from about 12,000 contributors during the campaign.

The Red Feather Campaign goal will be based upon the budgeted needs of the agencies for 1963. Proposed budgets will be reviewed during June by the U. C. S. budget committee, under chairman Melvern Hermen.

The nine agencies included in 1961 Red Feather Campaign were Appleton Apostolate, Boy Scouts, Children's Service Society, Girl Scouts, Golden Age Club, Lutheran Welfare Society, Salvation Army, Visiting Nurse Association and YMCA.

50,000 Will Be Job Hunting in June WSES Says

FOND DU LAC (AP)—An estimated 50,000 persons under the age of 25 will be looking for jobs in Wisconsin in June, the annual conference of the Wisconsin State Employment Service was told Tuesday.

Plans for a statewide campaign to help the young applicants was outlined by Stanley Spencer, youth services supervisor for the agency.

Currently, he said, the state has 23,000 persons under 25 years of age on the list of unemployed. The rate of joblessness for that age bracket is double that for other groups.

The number will be boosted, Spencer said, when 27,000 students are graduated from high school.

"Our basic objective," Spencer said, "is to expand placement services to this group and create a climate for acceptance of the 50,000 youth we will have in the labor force."

25 Apply for WBAY Grants at St. Norbert

More than 25 applications have been received from area high school seniors and present students at St. Norbert College, De Pere, for the annual competitive WBAY radio and television scholarships, according to Raymond P. Clouthier, chairman of the St. Norbert Committee on Student Aid.

The scholarships, offered each year by the Green Bay radio and television station to students within its viewing area for study at St. Norbert, will amount to $10,000 this year. The fund will be divided and distributed on the basis of academic excellence and financial need.

Annual Tuition
This means that the number of winners cannot be determined until all applications have been received. Winners will not all receive the same amount of help, but no individual will receive more than the college's annual tuition of $650.

Scholarships are renewable for four years. Those interested in applying should rank within the upper 20 per cent of their high school graduating class, or if college students, have maintained a 3.00 (B) average.

Contestants must submit their applications to the St. Norbert Committee on Student Aid by April 30. Application forms may be obtained from high school guidance counselors, principals, or at the college.

Applicants are required to submit scores from College Entrance Examination Board tests and must file a Parents' Confidential Statement with the College Scholarship Service of Princeton, N.J. Winners will be notified not later than June 15.

The next meeting of the group will be in the fall at New London.

Telephone Firm To Expand Facilities

$132,700 Appleton Project Concentrated In Northwest Section

A $132,700 Wisconsin Telephone Co. construction project to improve and expand telephone facilities at Appleton is underway, according to Manager Dick Van Sistine.

This project provides for exchange cable and conduit construction in the northwest part of the Appleton exchange area. The work is centered in the area of N. Bennett Street, but includes placing under-ground conduit through the developed area from College Avenue to Marquette Street. About 7,500 feet of underground conduit, 12 manholes, 7,600 feet of underground cable and 11,000 feet of aerial cable will be placed.

Van Sistine stated that the northwest section of the Appleton exchange area has been experiencing substantial growth due to the constant building activity. Requests for new and improved service are rapidly exhausting the present facilities.

Envision Regional Library To Serve Entire Fox Valley

Post Publishing Co. Refuses to Obey Order From NLRB

Says It's in Error, Won't Comply Without Court Order

The Post Publishing Co. has informed the National Labor Relations Board that it declines to comply with an NLRB order issued after the firm was found to be guilty of unfair labor practices.

"We are convinced that the order is in error and we will not obey it unless the NLRB can get a court order demanding compliance," V. I. Minahan, company president and editor of the Post-Crescent said today.

The company decision is a legal procedure, and places the responsibility on the NLRB to have its order enforced. The NLRB has no judicial jurisdiction and cannot enforce its orders without a court decree.

Unlawful Assistance
Following a two-day hearing in August, 1961, the NLRB found the company acted unlawfully in offering and contributing financial and material assistance to the independent Post-Crescent Craftsman's Union.

Company officials denied such assistance. The NLRB order says the company must withdraw recognition of the employees in the Post-Crescent's press and stereotype department.

The union is demanding company recognition as the exclusive bargaining agent for workers in that department, and has filed with the NLRB its claim of representing a majority.

Workers in that department belong to the independent Craftsman's Union, also. "Inasmuch as employees in that department are involved in proceedings before the NLRB, the company at this time cannot take any action on the demand for recognition," Minahan said he has told the printing pressman's union.

The charge of giving the independent union financial assistance resulted from the company panel which reviewed testimony taken at the hearing. The NLRB found the company should not give effect to the present contract.

Found Innocent
The company was found innocent of charges that gave preferential treatment to union members regarding job security, life insurance benefits and pay.

Appleton Librarian Talks To Kiwanis Club on Future Role That Books Will Play

A regional library in the Fox Valley, serving the area from Green Bay to Oshkosh, was put forth as a future possibility by Gordon Bebeau, chief librarian at the Appleton public library, in a speech to fellow Kiwanians Wednesday.

Speaking during National Library Week, Bebeau took a long look at present library facilities and the library of the future.

"We have a good thing here in Appleton and we don't use it," he said. The Appleton Public Library has only 15,000 registered users and 6,500 of these are children. This means only one in five adults is using the library regularly. At all, he said. The 1962 library budget of $132,000 will use the entire tax bill of 300 to 400 homeowners, he noted.

Not Dusty
A library is not a dusty storehouse, a Fort Knox for books, that many people remember from their youth, he said. And it's not a place of enforced quiet—"a normal amount of noise is now normal for libraries," he added.

Even more changes are in store. Bebeau painted a picture of the unusual library of the future, including: —a miniaturized library which can store one million books, reduced on three by five cards, in a cabinet the size of a washing machine, making libraries of the future, he noted. —teletype communication between libraries so that requests for books can be forwarded. This is already in use between libraries. Turn to Page 4, Col. 3

Council Makes Advisory Group Regular Body

Personnel Committee Won't Be Recreated Annually by Vote

The personnel committee of the Appleton city council has become a permanent advisory group.

It will not be recreated annually by council vote, as other advisory committees are, because councilmen agreed Wednesday that it does not fall into the same category as other advisory committees.

Other advisory groups are temporary. They are set up to help solve a particular problem or to oversee a specific project. They are dissolved when the need for them no longer exists.

It was suggested that present members of the personnel committee should serve during the coming year because it was created only last November and much of its work is just getting off the ground.

Will Use Discretion
It was pointed out, however, that this would limit Mayor Mitchell in his choice of standing committee chairmen, to be appointed at the council's reorganization meeting April 17.

As set up by the council, the personnel committee consists of a member from each of the four standing committees, but not the chairmen, and a citizen member. Mitchell said he would use discretion in making appointments and would try not to disturb the committee membership.

The committee received its permanent advisory status during an informal council meeting to discuss rules of the council, department functions and regulations governing city officials and employees. This is done annually prior to the reorganization. Any changes are adopted at that meeting.

Additions Made
Several additions were made for clarifications.

Unsigned letters and petitions will not be honored. They simply will be received and filed. It has been customary to receive and file them, but no where in the rules did it say this could be done.

The city treasurer was authorized to pay all city bills of two dollars and under from petty cash. He had been limited to one dollar.

Aldermen decided that City Planner - Traffic Engineer Walter Rasmussen will have to attend all council meetings so he can answer any questions that might arise relative to planning and traffic. Other department heads already have to attend council meetings.

Smoke Break
A request was made to have a five-minute smoke break every hour during council meetings to avoid the confusion caused by people going in and out of the chambers to smoke. No rule was made. It was decided that the mayor would call short recesses, especially during lengthy meetings.

Around Home
Two young explorers spent some chilly pre-dawn hours this morning before being rescued by neighbors and police.

Police said the children, ages 11½ and 4, wandered out of their home at about 6 a.m. this morning and couldn't get back in because a night lock was set. The youngest was wearing only pajamas.

A neighbor saw them at 7:30 a.m., took them to her house and called police, who returned the children to their home.

Buckley Lashes Eleanor, Kennedy, MITs, Steel Heads

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — President John F. Kennedy, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, former President Harry S. Truman, "misguided intellectuals" and surprisingly, executives of the steel industry, were the recipients of verbal barages here Wednesday night when William F. Buckley Jr. addressed a crowd of 1,200 at the Wisconsin State College gymnasium.

Buckley, editor of National Review, is considered one of the outstanding intellectual spokesmen of the conservative cause in America. He is author of the best-selling books, "God and Man at Yale," "Up from Liberalism," and the recent "The Committee and Its Critics." He also wrote with Brent Bozell, "McCarthy and His Enemies."

Buckley said, "I would have been surprised if the steel industry hadn't raised its prices. If they hadn't they would not have been engaged in competition between themselves."

He asked for an investigation by a congressional committee into the steel price hike. "If there was any collusion on the part of the steel executives, they should be fined and punished."

But, Buckley went on, why always worry about the monopolies in industry, and not the monopolies in labor unions? "The greatest monopolistic danger in the country today is found in the concentrated power of our labor unions, he said.

Of Kennedy, Buckley said, "He is the greatest political technician alive today, but he doesn't know what to do, and doesn't know which buttons to push. During his inauguration address he pleaded, 'Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country,' but 24 hours later he suggested 98 different things that the nation could do for the people.

"Kennedy obviously knows how to become president, but doesn't know how to be president."

Picketed
Buckley recalled an event two years ago about Mrs. Roosevelt's plans to attend a play on Broadway. "She arrived at the theater," he said, "but shortly after her arrival, turned back and left in her limousine. Much publicity had been given to her planned attendance, but little explanation was given to her departure."

"Later we discovered that she refused to enter the theater because it was being picketed. Mrs. Roosevelt never crosses a picket line so she went home."

He noted that such a generality about picket lines is dangerous. "This is a symptom of paralysis of our nation's intellectual facilities," he said.

Only one constructive proposal was made by any publication concerning that event, Buckley mused. He said that was when National Review volunteered to

Jury Awards Damages To 2 Parties in Suit

Ramsay Construction Co. Must Pay Owner Of Home $525; Contractor Receives $27

A County Court jury has awarded damages to both parties in a suit arising out of a charge that a contractor did faulty work in the construction of a private home.

Theodore H. Brunette, 1511 S. Madison St., charged that Ramsay Construction Co., 421 E. Byrd St., failed to finish a home and that there were numerous defects in the construction.

The jury, in a decision late Wednesday afternoon, awarded $525 to the Brunettes and $27 to Ramsay on the counterclaim.

The court will later rule who is to pay court costs, which are $100 plus witness fees, sheriff's fees and filing fees.

Bill For Bathub
In testimony before Judge Raymond P. Dohr and a 12-member jury, it was brought out that Brunette started a suit for $2,500 after Ramsay sent him a bill for $77.80 to replace a damaged bathtub in the home.

Brunette said the Ramsay Company failed to put a mirror or medicine cabinet in the home, did not put doors on a linen closet, did not put a back stoop on a house, failed to install aluminum screens and storms on the second floor of the house, and billed him $119 for fuel oil used during construction.

He claimed that defective work was done on the front step of the house, which cracked away from the building, on a bedroom door jam, where the hinge was cut into the wrong side of the jam and then patched.

James Ramsay Sr., owner of the construction company, filed a counter-claim for $347.20.

He charged Mr. and Mrs. Brunette were to receive a $500 discount on the $12,900 price of the home for doing "incidental" work, but failed to do $175 worth of the work.

He also said he was not paid for cutting tree limbs, clearing the lot, installing back steps and filling in two broken sidewalk squares.

Denied Charges
He denied the other charges, and said the bathtub was to be insured in a building policy taken out by the Brunettes, but was not covered.

The "incidental" work, which was not spelled out in the contract, was to include installation of interior wallboard and insulation, Ramsay charged, in addition to painting and finishing work and policing the area.

He said this was not done, although the Brunettes did do inside finish work, paint part of the house and put wallboard on part of the living room ceiling.

Building inspector Walter Bogdan testified that the front steps were not built in accordance with the building code.

A contractor testified that several items in the building were not built in a "workmanlike manner", which is a term in the contract.

It was brought out in testimony by an Appleton Building and Loan official that Ramsay's son accompanied the Brunettes when they applied for a loan on what they called a $17,000 project.

Since Brunette did not have enough equity in the home for the $12,000 loan he sought, Ramsay testified that the Brunettes had paid him a sum of cash.

Hortonville Drama Club To Give Play

Boy Reported Missing

A 13-year-old Appleton youth has been reported missing and is believed to be headed for Florida by hitch-hiking on U.S. 41. County police said he was reported missing at 8:20 p.m., and his father said he had not been home from school since he left in the morning. A friend of the youth's said he was headed for Florida.

UW Economist Warns

Problems Face Wolf Planning Commission

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Regional Editor

SHAWANO — Controversy and difficulties lie ahead for the Wolf River Planning Commission, a university of Wisconsin economist warned the newly formed group today.

Raymond Penn, UW faculty member and adviser to Gov. Gaylord Nelson, warned that not all which is done by the commission will be praised.

The commission, Penn said, was one of the first groups in the country doing something with a water focus. He said the commission should expect a diversity of interests by the proponents of power dams or scenic beauty.

Five Benefits
He gave two ways the commission might reduce the conflicts:

1. Emphasis on development of resources rather than preservation. 2. Some kind of water zoning program so that conflicts among people who have different ideas as to usages and development of water can be kept to a minimum.

Harold Jordahl of the state planting office listed five benefits of regional planning. He said the commission could coordinate state and federal programs, act as an official agency to articulate goals of the area, coordinate the separate and sometimes conflicting interests of the area, collect much needed data on area and do a job no single unit of government can do in the area.

Membership on the commission will work under one of two plans. If more than one-half of the municipalities represented have more than one-half of the population the municipalities may each select its own commission.

Under the other plan each county may appoint one member to the commission and the governor two.

Nelson said, "Creation of a regional planning commission will not automatically revolutionize the problems of the Wolf River Basin, but sound planning can guarantee benefits in the face of self-destructing competition for specific resource uses."

Two Representatives of the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society explained and showed slides of the Society's work to the Appleton Y's Mens Club Wednesday. From left are: Dennis Luebke, program chairman; Miss Fern Mead, teacher in the Morgan School orthopedic department and chairman of the Easter Seal camping program; Miss Barbara Trachte, rehabilitation and handicraft teacher at the Appleton Vocational School, and Elmer Moericke, Y's Men's president.

Ninety-Four Members of the Lake States Section of TAPPI toured the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton from 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesday. William Whitsitt, of the Institute, acts as a guide and shows TAPPI members a strip of corrugated board that has come off of the experimental corrugating machine in the container section of the Institute. Looking at the product left to right are Devendra Joshi, Gilbert Paper Co.; Kenneth Knapp, Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co., and Lyman Aldrich, Mosinee Paper Co.

Dr. Allen Abrams, Wausau, a consultant for Arthur D. Little, Inc., told members of the Lake States Section of TAPPI that the paper industry falls short in the field of research. Discussing research are Jack Whalen, newly elected chairman of the Lake States Section and an employee of Combined Locks Paper Co.; Dr. H. F. Lewis, Institute of Paper Chemistry; Dr. Abrams, and Willard Stinger, former chairman of the TAPPI section and a Marathon Corp. employee. Winnebago Board to Hear Protests on Lake-Shore Rezoning

Recreational Use Plan Opposed At Zoning Committee Hearing

OSHKOSH — Denial of rezoning along the Lake Winnebago shore, stretching both ways from Robinson's Bay, where the land is to be bought by Winnebago County and the State of Wisconsin for a public access to Lake Winnebago south of Neenah will be recommended to the Winnebago County Board next week.

Strong protests were made against the rezoning by residents

Committee Denies Request For Rezoning

Residents Along Winnebago Shore Oppose Campground

OSHKOSH — The rezoning request of Kenneth P. Wisnac to permit a campground in the Paynes Point area and that of Ernest Glassman for an outboard motor sales and service store on County Trunk A in the Town of Oshkosh were rejected by the county zoning committee after a hearing Wednesday night.

Adjoining residents voiced their opposition to the requested changes with an informal vote taken by the zoning committee showing between 40 and 50 persons in opposition to each change. In both cases the votes were the same though their properties might be several miles apart.

But in both cases, the opponents were those living along the Lake Winnebago shore and County Trunk A who wanted to preserve that entire area for residential use. Glassman apologized for his request, indicating he did not want to start anything that his neighbors would not want. The site he sought for rezoning is a portion of the Freda Fucman property at the corner of County Trunk S and the Vinland-Oshkosh town line road. He asked a commercial "B" zone for the site. The building he planned would be of an attractive and modernistic design and of block and wood construction. Wisnac said he wanted a commercial "B" zone for his 24-acre site near Paynes Point to permit a campsite. Joseph S. Liebi submitted two petitions signed by a total of 65 persons in the area protesting such rezoning and Jack Meyer added his objection, stating that a commercial "B" zone would allow the site to be used for many other purposes than for a campsite.

Equally strong pleas for the rezoning so that the public would have access to the lake for fishing were made by members of the County Board's fair and park committee, state conservation department personnel and representatives of conservation and boating groups.

A standing vote taken of those present, the largest number ever to attend a county zoning hearing and one which packed the courthouse lounge room, showed 60 persons arrayed against the rezoning while only a dozen were on hand to back it.

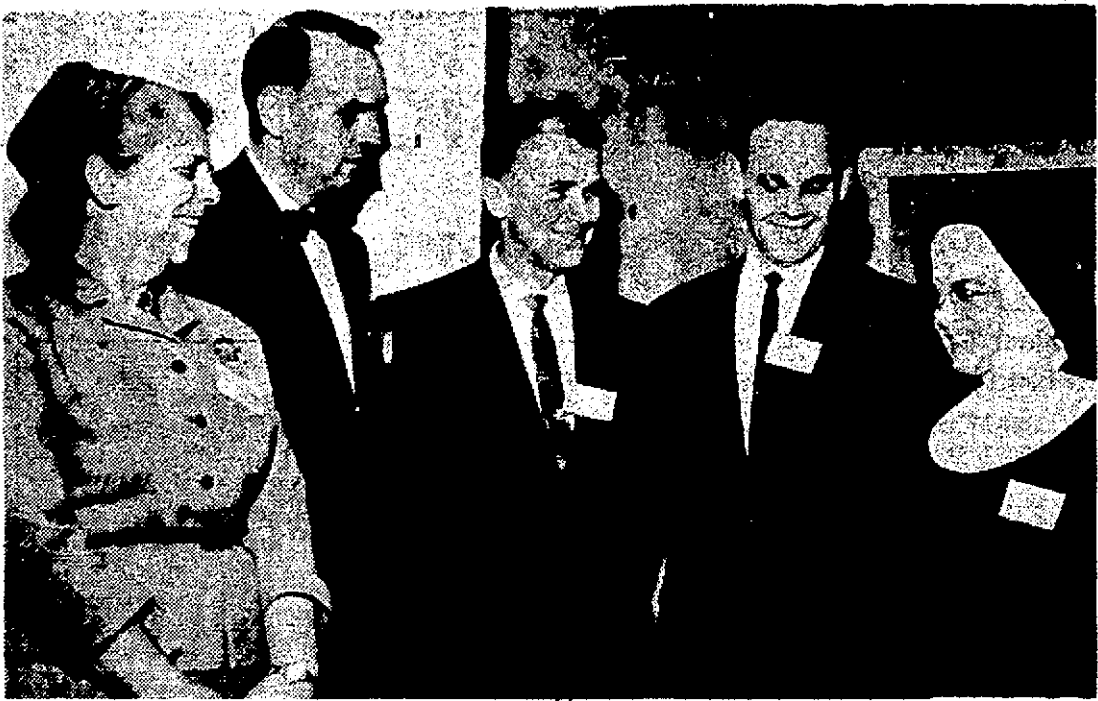

The rezoning request was made by John S. Grundman, owner of the property on which Winnebago County has a $13,000 purchase option. Another $10,000 would be spent to put in a road and fix the parking area for cars and boat trailers. The state conservation commission has approved paying half of this cost.

Since Grundman is still the owner of record of the property, the recommendation of the zoning committee for denial will go to the County Board next week. If the County Board votes to rezone the property anyway, the matter goes to the Town of Vinland Board which can veto or approve the rezoning.

Were Winnebago County the owner, a hearing still would be held but there would be no veto in power by the Vinland Town Board, it was brought out at the hearing.

'A Midsummer Night's Dream'

Riverside Players Plan Varied Summer Program

NEENAH — One of Shakespeare's best-loved comedies, a Pulitzer prize-winning drama, and an outstanding Rodgers and Hammerstein musical will be presented during the 1962 summer season of the Riverside players.

Kenneth Anderson, managing director, announced today that Mrs. Herbert Harker will direct William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," to be offered July 12, 13 and 14; Richard Henkel, "The Diary of Anne Frank," Aug. 2, 3 and 4, and Anderson, "Carousel," Aug. 23, 24, 25 and 26.

Henkel will stage Shakespeare's romantic comedy in three-sided arena style. A delightful interplay of magic and romance, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" involves four mixed-up young loves whose affairs are complicated by the whimsical comedy of those famous fairy folk, Titania, Oberon and Puck.

The plot centers around the wedding of Theseus, duke of Athens, and Hippolyta, Queen of the Amazons.

To be staged prescencium style, "The Diary of Anne Frank" is the warm-hearted and inspiring story of an alert and high-spirited girl who lived with her family for two years in an Amsterdam attic during the enemy occupation.

ics alike for its tender drama, it received the 1956 Antoinette Perry Award, Critic's Circle Award and the Pulitzer Prize.

"Carousel," final production of the season, will run four nights instead of the usual three. With music and lyrics by Richard and Oscar Hammerstein II, it is based on "Liliom" by Hungarian playwright Ferenc Molnar.

Council Okays Retail Food Handling Rule

OSHKOSH — A food handlers ordinance to replace present regulations governing restaurants and other retail food establishments was given tentative approval Wednesday night by the Common Council at its workshop session.

The ordinance was the result of two years of work by the Community Council, restaurant owners and other organizations. We are not asking anything the State Board of Health does not require, Victor Rossing, director of the city health department, said.

The only opposition to the ordinance came from Harvey Wickert, president of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association. Wickert charged that farmers selling produce in the city were unfair competition to the retail merchants and wanted the farm markets regulated under the ordinance.

City Atty. Fintan Flanagan said they could not regulate the farmers as long as he was selling his own products. Under terms of the ordinance, every food establishment in Oshkosh will be inspected at least every six months. If any serious violations of the ordinance are found, a second inspection will be made after 24 hours.

The food handlers permit will be automatically suspended if any violation is not corrected in the 24 hours if it was capable of being corrected in that time. The council also will be asked to rule on the relative merits of certified raw milk. The present city ordinance does not permit the sale of raw milk in Oshkosh. A dairy had been distributing certified raw milk in Oshkosh until learning it was in violation of the ordinance. The dairy is now asking the ordinance be amended to permit the sale of its milk.

Chain O' Lakes Cabin Burglars Get Probation

Judge Orders Stevens Point Men To Make Restitution

WAUPACA — Two Stevens Point men who were sentenced to the State Reformatory at Green Bay Wednesday were placed on probation by Judge Wendell McHenry in County Court on charges of breaking and entering and theft.

James H. Cote, 21, was sentenced to three terms of up to three years at the reformatory on two charges of breaking and entering and one charge of theft. He also was sentenced to six months to the reformatory on a misdemeanor.

Bruce H. Werner, 22, was sentenced to an indeterminate term of up to three years in the reformatory on a charge of breaking and entering and six months on a misdemeanor. The misdemeanors involved theft below $100.

Stay Sentence Judge McHenry, who announced that the terms were to run concurrent, stayed the sentences and placed both men on probation for four years of the State Department of Public Welfare. The men are to make full re-

Block Public Discussion of Policies on Chief's Hiring

MENASHA — Efforts by Commissioner Kenneth Holmes for a public discussion of policies on examination and hiring of the new police chief were blocked Wednesday night by the other members of the Menasha Police and Fire Commission.

Commissioner Don Wirth moved and Richard O'Brien seconded to hold all discussion on policies in executive session after adjournment of the regular meeting.

After the meeting, with Wirth and other commissioners assured that no official action would be taken in the closed meeting.

Part of the business, commissioners indicated, would be on a replacement for Police Chief Peter P. Clark, who will retire July 1, and on promoting a policeman to the captaincy to be vacated April 23 by Cyril Walbrun, who also is retiring.

The commission directed that the police department answer a questionnaire from Hugh Carpenter, West Bend, Washington County juvenile officer, on problems arising from youthful drinking habits.

Information asked includes effects of drinking on sex offenses, traffic accidents, family trouble, crimes and misdemeanors.

Commissioners unanimously voted to table action on sending any policemen to school until a new chief takes office. They had been informed of two 2-week juvenile control institutes, beginning April 30 and May 7, at the University of Wisconsin. Sponsors are the university, Wisconsin Chiefs' Association, Wisconsin Juvenile Officers Association and the Wisconsin Sheriffs' and Deputy Sheriffs' Department of Public Welfare.

They pleaded guilty of breaking into Chain O'Lakes cottages in the Town of Dayton. Cote admitted breaking into the James Dyerby cottage March 6 and the John Tepoorten cottage Feb. 16.

Werner was involved in the break-in at the Tepoorten cottage. They were sentenced Wednesday when the pre-sentence examination was completed. They had admitted breaking into 11 Chain O'Lakes cottages.

No Further Action Acting district attorney, Edward R. Macklin, however, advised the court that there will be no further criminal action on the other cottages entries if the two men make restitution.

Political Pressure Needed to Assure Appleton's Growth

Fox Valley Professor Urges Community Action for Planning

If the people of Appleton want it, they could initiate a positive, planned method of guiding the city's growth, Dr. Thomas Thompson told the Project 70 committee this morning.

The planning commission could begin to put into effect some of the model ordinances created by the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission and make an inventory of Appleton's planning shortcomings, the political science professor at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center said.

But, first, there must be proper political pressure, generated by "official governmental leaders, or by citizen groups which represent political power," Dr. Thompson said. Pressure must be directed at "community action, or even for protection of community interest against particular private interests."

Dr. Thompson indicated that Appleton's present planning program is one of "negativism." He said the planning commission is now merely "sitting in judgment of the propriety of individual requests for zoning changes."

The new political pressure that would change all that would come "most preferably, from the business and industrial community," he said. That source would be most preferable because "it is from this group that have come traditionally the requests for individual treatment in zoning cases" and if business and industry supported the new, planned approach "there will be a lessening rather than an increase in this kind of political heat."

The business community "is perhaps most aware of the economic consequences of planning or no planning as a city commitment" and is more likely to hold constant position than other civic groups with more diverse and less pressing interests.

City Urged
Dr. Thompson's discussion was related to a resolution urging the city to create a comprehensive plan that was recommended by the Project 70 committee, approved by the chamber of comwith a view to its revision when the analysis was complete.

"When the material for a comprehensive plan is at hand, this would be recommended for adoption by the council, including the extension of public facilities, together with practicable plans for financing it," and machinery for its enforcement, implementation and revision over time.

"The plan commission cannot do these things by itself," Dr. Thompson said. "It can and probably will, if community leadership asks it to, declare the need. But the intensive work required to fill the need will tax the capabilities of a larger staff than is now available."

A comprehensive plan could be made either by a larger city planning staff or by an outside planner. The Project 70 committee has made no specific recommendation on the method of having the plan made.

ies in England and those on the European continent.

An exhibit at the Seattle World's Fair shows many of these new ideas for libraries, he said.

Bebeau expressed a hope that federations of libraries would be developed, so that smaller libraries could obtain greater discount advantages in purchasing books and more help from trained personnel.

Additions he hopes to see made at the Appleton library include a record collection and an art collection, with framed copies that can be loaned.

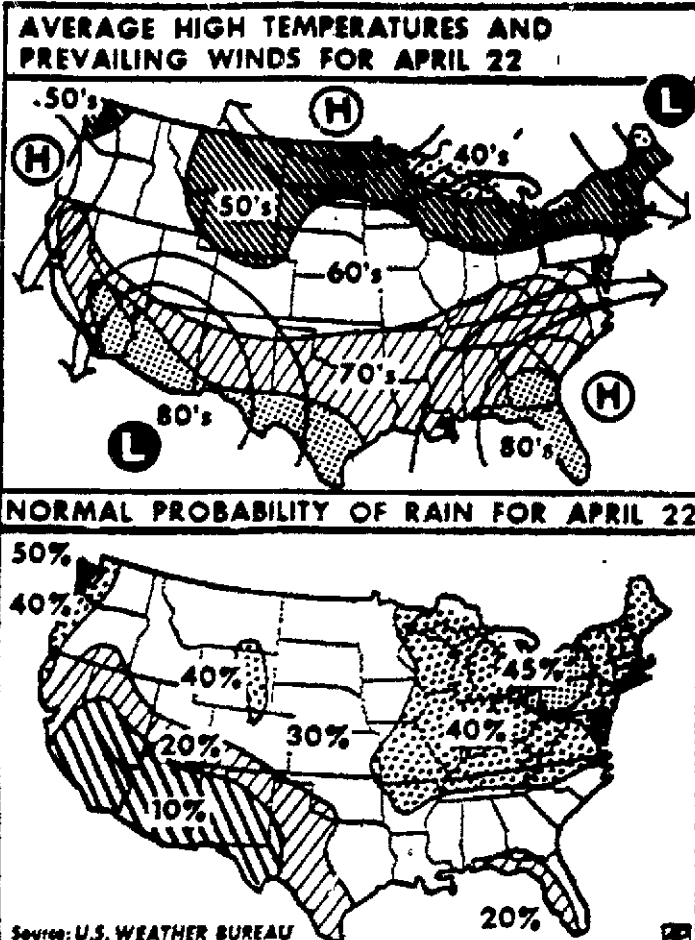

The library's present collection includes 107,000 books, newspapers, with files dating back to the Civil War, and 140 magazines received regularly. The library can provide books for the blind, both in Braille and "talking" books, and subscribes to a film service which provides 16 mm films that are good for home use of club and educational programs. A service that Bebeau hoped will see great use is the book projection machine, which projects films of books on the ceiling for persons who are disabled and must lie flat on their backs.

We have access to virtually every other book in Wisconsin and neighboring states through the inter-library loan association, he noted.

Good Collection
Appleton has one of the best reference collections of any library in the state, he went on, emphasizing that he wished more persons, particularly businessmen, would make use of its wealth of information. "We do not care how insignificant a question might seem," he said.

The library's goal is availability, Bebeau said. He listed five primary areas of a library's services to the public:

1. To help persons who want to improve themselves, either in their jobs or in general knowledge.
 2. To provide recreation "in the sense of revitalizing the human spirit," and to help people use their increasing amount of leisure time.
 3. To help stimulate a love for books.
 4. To serve as the cultural center of the community, particularly in small communities which have few other cultural activities.
 5. To answer people's questions through the reference facilities.
- He pointed to a lack of adequate library facilities throughout

Midwest Gets Spring Storm

Snow Warning Out for Some Parts Of Wisconsin

The weather and the calendar got signals mixed up and most of the southwestern half of Wisconsin had a dusting of snow early today.

Up to 6 a.m. Eau Claire reported about a half inch of snow while La Crosse and Lone Rock noted traces. The snowfall reached Madison by 7.30. Minneapolis reported three inches of snow early today and it was still snowing.

High temperatures in Wisconsin Wednesday ranged from 54 at Lone Rock to 37 at Superior. Duluth. Other highs were La Crosse 53, Beloit-Rockford 52, Madison 51, Racine 50, Wausau 49, Eau Claire 48, Green Bay 47, Milwaukee 45 and Park Falls 43.

Weatherman Ralph Dorn predicts snow for the Fox Cities today with possible accumulation up to 3 inches. Temperatures should stay in the upper 30s. Temperatures will probably get into the high 50s Friday and all snow accumulation will probably melt.

Brain Centers Help Industry, Chemist Says

Director of Grad School at Minnesota Speaks at Institute

More "brain centers" in the state will bring more sophisticated industry to Wisconsin, a University of Minnesota educator visiting in Appleton said today.

Dr. Bryce Crawford Jr., dean of the graduate school of the University of Minnesota and a professor of physical chemistry arrived in Appleton Wednesday to lecture at the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Dr. Crawford said both Wisconsin and Minnesota is rich in highly technical college graduates and industries should be made aware of this advantage.

The professor said that "heavy industry" which necessarily requires a high labor force is "in many respects not a desirable thing to have in a community."

He said that the initiative to acquire "brain centers" comes from local communities and industries.

Dr. Crawford said the Minnesota Twin Cities area has become known as an electronics center of the nation because of the concentration of firms in the area doing research and work in the field. Dr. Crawford said the main reason for the development was the emphasis on electronic research at the University of Minnesota.

Favored Schools

The educator said he was strongly in favor of state land grant schools operating under one direction as in Wisconsin and Minnesota. He said that too many land grant schools, operating independently, create unwieldy problems "that can go a long time without being solved."

Dr. Crawford cited the Institute of Paper Chemistry as a good example of a "brain center" supplying technical background information to one particular industry.

Crawford's talk Wednesday on molecular probes was heard by graduate students of the institute, its faculty and staff and guests invited from the area's colleges and industries.

This morning Dr. Crawford held conferences with smaller groups of the institute staff and students and visited its science laboratory.

Buckley Hits Inaction Of U. S. Intellectuals place pickets around Mrs. Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate.

The speaker recalled a 1958 Jefferson-Jackson Day speech by Truman during which the ex-president "was distorting history and provoking the baser appetites of the TV audience."

On the speaker's platform with Truman, Buckley recalled, were "the great intellectuals of liberalism—Adlai Stevenson and Dean Acheson. I watched these men voodoo of academic freedom." He closely to see if I could note an expression of pain on their faces. Regrettably, I discovered, there was none.

He went on, "But Truman is a great master of English prose and a great historian. The liberal press has described him so. And during a question and answer period after his lecture. He said, 'The Americans—for Democratic Action are running the country. They were elected last year. Last week during a debate with the well-known liberal historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., I said to him 'it is a shame that a person who is currently writing 'The Intellectual Class,' he said, 'history should be making such bad history.'"

"I was surprised that he was unruffled and seemed to understand my remark so well." Buckley's appearance was sponsored by the Conservative Club of Wisconsin State College at Oshkosh.

And our nation's so-called thought-leaders have refused to assess the undisciplined rise and power of the labor unions. Instead they do everything in their power to restrain the early 20th century industrial giants."

He referred to the failure of colleges to fight the rising tide of "the distilled freedom."

Buckley summarized his views during a question and answer period after his lecture. He said, "The Americans—for Democratic Action are running the country. They were elected last year. Last week during a debate with the well-known liberal historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., I said to him 'it is a shame that a person who is currently writing 'The Intellectual Class,' he said, 'history should be making such bad history.'"

Jack Paar's Daydreams Considered by Jingo

Rumors About Acting Offers Start, Even One of Them May Come True

BY JINGO
Anticipation is often the greatest part of pleasure. The phenomenon has happened to everyone from the tummy-ache spoiled birthday party to a disastrous first date.

Day dreams are usually the ingredient of anticipation that pulls the rug from under reality.

Here's a case in point. A man in the entertainment field wins tremendous notice in a special circumstance. In his day dreams he sees only the notice, failing to recognize the circumstances.

A great coup is anticipated. He'll leave his happy circumstances at the height of his notice. The facts flesh out the skeleton of his day dreams. Heartfelt statements of regret flood him from personages of importance.

The day dream sweeps on to the anticipation of achieving equal success in other circumstances, even those that might demand something like talent.

Being a man of action, he sees to it that his idea gets to see the light of day. The "inside track" columnist is just the window for his idea and it gets a spread.

The reality, of course, has to be of firmer stuff and when it fails to develop, the poor little idea running about in all of its exposure becomes very pitiful indeed.

Through the window of the omniscient columnist just such an idea is standing apparently with egg on its face. To wit:

Feb. 23, "Fox is after Jack Paar to make a movie 'Five Weeks in a Balloon.' Paar would play a newspaper publisher."

April 7, "Fox offered the part of Marilyn Monroe's mate in 'Something's Got to Give' to Jack Paar."

There'll be more rumors. Watch and see! Maybe one might come true. Who knows? The cutting room floor is no stranger to having Paar hit it. If the rumors stay just rumors, you can be sure, Jack will have another whipping boy when he returns in October. Nothing can provoke tears like having your dreams destroyed—especially when you've worked so hard to make them true.

An echo of the famed Paar-Sullivan near feud is bouncing about Gotham these days. Gene (Bat Masterson) Barry, now a strolling troubador, is slated to open in the Latin Quarter on April 25. He hopes to make two TV appearances, one with Perry Como and the other with Ed Sullivan. Ed likes to keep his stars to himself, if you remember. It will be interesting to see who'll get Gene.

Drama in Spanish Set for Lawrence

Spanish drama presented in its native tongue will be featured at 8 p.m. Friday Stansbury Theater when members of the University of Wisconsin's Spanish department visit Lawrence College campus.

Prof. Roberto Sanchez will bring his production of Lope de Vega's "El Caballero de Olmedo" (The Knight from Olmedo) in celebration of the dramatist's quadricentennial.

Lope de Vega lived from 1562 to 1635, a contemporary of Shakespeare. His comedies, full-length secular plays, set the style for the most flourishing Spanish drama period, the so-called Spanish golden age theater.

A cast of 13 graduate students and faculty members will present "El Caballero," which is being given in cooperation with the Lawrence Spanish department.

New Spy Tale Set in Europe During War

'Counterfeit Traitor' Full of Adventure, Credible Espionage

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The full panorama of wartime Europe is captured in "The Counterfeit Traitor," a well-made new film that follows the adventure pattern of "The Guns of Navarone."

Paramount hopes that its new film will follow the same money-making pattern, since "Navarone" was the most profitable film of 1961.

"The Counterfeit Traitor" could also be a blockbuster. It offers equally exciting wartime heroics with an added factor that "Navarone" lacked: Credibility.

Based on Real Life

The basic facts of "The Counterfeit Traitor" are patterned after the real-life adventures of Eric Erickson. He is an American-born Swedish businessman who did business with the Nazis while reporting oil targets for Allied bombers.

Producer William Perleberg and director-writer George Seaton have done a marvelous job in recreating the look and sound of Germany, Sweden and Denmark during the war. They wisely cast actors in the countries where they factored. William Holden, Lilli Palmer and Hugh Griffith are the only players recognizable to the American public.

Seaton embroiders episode on episode until the audience is completely involved in the pattern of espionage. The film starts slowly and sometimes clings to coincidence. But once it starts rolling, there is no escape from the tension of suspense.

CBS Reports On Worries Of Taxes

BY TV SCOUT
9-30 (Channel 2) — CBS Reports, this week and next, looks at "The Taxed American." Tonight, says producer Arthur Morse, is "an intimate portrait of the taxpayer at bay." The focus here is on how the income tax is collected, and you'll see some funny and some heart-rending scenes of taxpayers facing Internal Revenue auditors.

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Donna Reed Show has a mild lesson in compassion for those with physical quirks. Daughter Mary (Shelley Fabares) has a blind date with a basketball star (Peter Brooks). She takes one look at him and his huge ears and begs off.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Lee Marvin switches hospitals and pops up on Dr. Kildare, after a brief residency not so long ago with Ben Casey. Alcohol again plays a major part in his problem.

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons is a song in praise of the self-sufficiency of today's youth. Fred MacMurray and a childhood friend (Roy Engel) talk about how they once ran away from home, and the conversation inspires Mike and Robbie to do the same, with modifications.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Replacing The Gertrude Berg Show for the duration of the summer is another series of re-runs of The Zane Grey Theater. This kicks off with a five-year-old film called "The Three Graves," which stars Jack Lemmon as a gunfighter who thinks he's found a soft touch. He has stumbled on a town where nobody wears a gun, and he decides to take over.

8:30-9 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's Hazel episode was inspired by the real interest which cartoonist Ted Key (who created Hazel) has in the Cub Scout movement. In the story, uppity young Scott Lane, as a battish son of a family friend, sneers at young Harold and his Cub Scout activities. Naturally, he learns better.

Paar's Gone, But Audience Shows No Loss

'Tonight Show' Goes Along as Usual Under Art Linkletter

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — A funny thing happened to NBC's "Tonight Show" during the week after the king of the insomniacs abdicated. The size of the audience remained just about the same as it was during Jack Paar's long reign.

According to estimates of the American Research Bureau, a rating service, the "Tonight Show" last week, in the temporary custody of Art Linkletter, rang up a score almost identical to the weekly ratings Paar achieved under quiet conditions.

Paar's rating during the last week he was on the program was a couple of points higher than his normal average. But that was because the viewers of his final show were almost double the usual number.

That Linkletter has been able to keep a large number of the population awake—or at least has kept a lot of television sets turned on into the midnight hours—perhaps will come as a great disappointment to the rabid Paar fans, and to Paar himself.

My own explanation is that many people are still watching purely from habit. Over the years, they grew accustomed to the Paar show and now find that it's impossible to turn off their sets and go to bed after the late news.

Add to these creatures of habit the large numbers of feminine viewers who have made Linkletter a successful daytime performer over the years, and the result is a sustained rating.

It is not exactly a phenomenon, however. The "Tonight" show had the same experience when Dave Garroway left the NBC morning program after all those years and John Chancellor took over. Some diehards felt the program would collapse without Garroway. It has perked along quietly under Chancellor's aegis without any perceptible loss of audience.

4 Lawrence Students in Harper Recital

Instrumental music makes up the 16th Lawrence Conservatory student recital at 3:30 p.m. Friday in Harper Hall, Music-Drama Center.

Trumpet, flute, piano and horn soloists will share the program, which is open to the public without charge.

James Wallrath, conservatory freshman will present two movements from a 1940 trumpet sonata of Hindemith. Wallrath, from Glenview, Ill., is a student of Monroe Olson.

Music for flute by the 18th century German flautist and composer, Johann Joachim Quantz, will be played by Letha Dreyfuss, Madison. Miss Dreyfuss, a junior, studies with Patricia Mann.

Two Brahms works will be performed by freshman pianist Penelope Davis. The Rockford, Ill., student is from the studio of Theodore Rehl.

Last on the program is a Matys horn concerto movement, to be played by Julie Peters, a freshman student of Monroe Olson.

Accompanists for the program are Laurie Zautner, West Bend senior, freshmen Shirley Barstow of Galesburg, Ill., and Patricia Sayre, Peoria, Ill.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Lee Marvin switches hospitals and pops up on Dr. Kildare, after a brief residency not so long ago with Ben Casey. Alcohol again plays a major part in his problem.

8-8:30 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons is a song in praise of the self-sufficiency of today's youth. Fred MacMurray and a childhood friend (Roy Engel) talk about how they once ran away from home, and the conversation inspires Mike and Robbie to do the same, with modifications.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Replacing The Gertrude Berg Show for the duration of the summer is another series of re-runs of The Zane Grey Theater. This kicks off with a five-year-old film called "The Three Graves," which stars Jack Lemmon as a gunfighter who thinks he's found a soft touch. He has stumbled on a town where nobody wears a gun, and he decides to take over.

8:30-9 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's Hazel episode was inspired by the real interest which cartoonist Ted Key (who created Hazel) has in the Cub Scout movement. In the story, uppity young Scott Lane, as a battish son of a family friend, sneers at young Harold and his Cub Scout activities. Naturally, he learns better.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Avoid the use of "on account of" for BECAUSE. Say, "I did not come BECAUSE (not 'on account of') I did not get your invitation."

Often mispronounced: Rheums (France). Pronounce as "reems"

Synonyms: Judicious, wise, sagacious, expedient, sensible, prudent, discreet, well-judged, well-advised, polite, discerning, thoughtful.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: revelation; act of disclosing, or that which is disclosed. "His revelation came as a surprise to his friends."

'Rorschach' Replaced By New Ink Blot Test

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Psychologists now have a new ink blot test they can use in place of the Rorschach method in which 10 cards are used and the person taking the test may give several responses to each card.

Forty-five cards are used in the new method and only one response is correct for each ink blot.

No two people see the same picture on these new cards, but almost everyone who takes the test agrees that the first card in the series looks like a bat.

Mentally Disturbed

If you don't think so, you may be mentally disturbed. On the other hand, you may be just plain ordinary—or perhaps creative.

For the whole series, more than 30 responses showing wild flights of fancy or complete lack of accurate perception may indicate the person "is emotionally disturbed."

The test is designed to replace any one ink blot, but you can tell the famed Rorschach method, by the results of the total test," where only 10 cards are used and several responses may be given to each.

The new test is more reliable than the Rorschach, said Prof. Samuel C. Fulkerson, director of clinical training at the University of Louisville. It was developed over a 10-year period by Dr. Wayne H. Holtzman, psychologist at the University of Texas and a former associate of Fulkerson.

Not in General Use

The occasion for discussion and demonstration of the new test—only three months old and not yet in general use—was a recent meeting of the Southeastern Psychological Association.

As for the Rorschach, the Holtzman test measures personality traits and the ability of a person to perceive things realistically. It can help point out cases of mental illness, although it would never be used as the sole basis of diagnosis.

"You can't judge a person's sanity through his response to the Rorschach test," Fulkerson said.

Young Hobby Club Get Set Now to Decorate Your Eggs for Easter Time

BY CAPPY DICK

Recently I told how to apply wax flowers to hard-boiled Easter eggs. Today another way is described to use crayons on Easter eggs. Very attractive results can be obtained.

The eggs must be hard-boiled and should be decorated while they are very hot. The easiest way to hold a hot egg for this purpose is with a loop of wire. This will enable you to decorate all sides of it without once putting it down.

The heat in the freshly boiled egg will make it easy to apply the crayons because the wax will melt.

Simple lines will produce effective results if you use good color combinations. Try wavy lines as in Figure 1, running them from one end of the egg to the other. One broad line may be violet. Next to it you might place a thin line of green, then a broad line of orange, another thin line of green and so on.

Another egg can be decorated with lines that cross, forming a plaid effect as in Figure 2. A

Still another decoration can be a miniature scene as in Figure 4, consisting of a house, a barn and some trees.

Faces may be drawn on some of the eggs. Palka dots will also be good decorations. Make the dots of a variety of colors.

Take Doctor's Advice; Lose Excess Weight

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 39-year-old man, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, and weight 168 pounds. After a double exercise cardiogram, my doctor told me I have coronary insufficiency. He believes I can eliminate this condition if I reduce my weight to about 145 pounds, provided no hereditary factor is present.

Can you add anything to his instructions which may help? — J. G.

This question reminds me of the aspiring athlete who wanted to be a distance runner. The trouble was that he insisted on carrying two 10-pound bags of potatoes.

all gave him instructions in breathing. Nothing seemed to help very much, and he complained bitterly about their "ignorance," and the way they disagreed over various factors.

At this point a friend observed, "But you're still carrying those bags of potatoes."

"Aw, that!" said the frustrated runner. "That's just one of the things they told me. I thought I'd get all the others straightened-out first."

Do I make myself clear? Don't ask me if I can add to your doctor's instructions until you've done the one vitally important thing that he recommended. Quit carrying around those bags of potatoes! Get down to 145 pounds. His advice sounds good to me.

Dear Dr. Molner: For 15 years my husband has had a cyst on his lung, the size of an egg. X-rays show no further growth, but our physician suggests an operation. My husband refuses. What dangers, if any, are there in delaying surgery? — MRS. F.R.

The dangers are infection, hemorrhage or rupture into the pleural space, which is called "spontaneous pneumothorax." This means that the lung collapses. Your physician must have good reasons for recommending surgery.

Dear Dr. Molner: My 16-year-old son has large breasts which are so conspicuous he refuses to appear in public in a swim suit. He has reduced his weight to normal. Why do the breasts remain so large? — R.P.

It may be that this area has not yet had time to shed the fat which accumulates profusely

No Milk Decline?

Dairy Groups Rap Unwarranted Publicity

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Dairy Association believes dairy farmers are getting unfair, unwarranted and inaccurate publicity in connection with government reporting of a decline in milk consumption.

In its latest news letter, the association takes issue with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in his reporting a sharp and unexpected decline in milk consumption in 1961.

This decline was a major factor in Freeman's recent decision to reduce dairy price supports. It also is a factor in his backing of legislation to impose controls on milk production.

The association says that reports of Freeman's own department showed in 1961 that milk production was turning upward at a time when consumption was easing off. In fact, he said, there has been a decline for several years, reflecting reductions in demand for butter and some other dairy products high in fats.

In reporting a sharp and unexpected decline in 1961, Freeman helped create the impression, the association says, that consumers are turned away from dairy products "because of the cholesterol and fallout scares."

"This suggestion not only misleads the dairy industry itself but also contributes to a bandwagon effect on consumers who might be lead to believe that they should quit milk if so many other people are doing so."

Going On

The association says declines in milk consumption on a per capita basis has been going on for a number of years.

"No one, for example, has predicted anything other than a further decline for butter and evaporated milk sales over a period of years. The reason for decline in sales of these products has been restated many times — intense competition from cheap substitute products, replacement of other dairy foods in some cases, changes in infant feeding, etc."

The association suggests that one factor in last year's upturn in milk production was the fact that many producers anticipated a milk production quota program which would use 1961 production as base.

The House Agriculture Committee, completing work on individual parts of the administration's

Fire Levels City Garage At Chilton

CHILTON — Flames of undetermined origin this morning leveled a garage-type shed owned by farm bill Wednesday, approved the milk section.

The only major change made in the milk section was to increase from 7½ per cent to 10 per cent the minimum voluntary cut in milk production under which farmers could qualify for compensation payments from the government. There are no penalties for farmers who don't want to reduce production or want to increase it. They simply would not get the government payments.

Price supports would remain at the present 75 per cent of parity ($3.11 a hundred pounds) for all dairy farmers.

Appleton Post-Crescent D12 Thursday, April 12, 1962

the city of Chilton at the quarry site just south of the city.

Fire Chief Norbert Sturm said the building was practically burned to the ground when firemen arrived. A nearby farmer, John Schmitz, turned in the alarm shortly before 6 a.m. Sturm believes the building was burning for some time before it was first seen.

A boat and trailer, owned by Street Commissioner Louis Bue-low and stored in the building, was destroyed, along with small city-owned equipment. Fire department officials declined to estimate damages.

The building was insured. Cause of fire has not been determined, but is believed to have been caused by defective wiring. Chilton firemen remained at the scene for two hours. The building was of frame construction.
